Organ donor twice denied visitor's visa

Relative refused entry. Toronto woman has been on waiting list for kidney since 2009

Vilma Serrano has end-stage renal disease and needs a new kidney, but only Immigration Minister Jason Kenney can help.

Serrano, 44, was thrilled when a living donor, a relative by marriage in El Salvador, offered to donate one of his kidneys. Guillermo David Martell Novas completed all preliminary medical tests and was deemed a viable donor, but hit a roadblock with Canada's immigration office.

Novas, 38, who lives in El Salvador, was twice denied a visitor's visa to come here for further tests and a possible transplant, once in October 2011 and again last January.

"We were so excited we found the match. Now we are shocked, sad and disappointed," said Serrano's husband, Jose.

An immigration ministry spokesperson said Wednesday that Novas "was unable to satisfy the visa officer that he would leave Canada upon expiration of his visa."

Staff at Toronto General Hospital said Serrano desperately needs the transplant. In a letter of support for Novas' visa application, the hospital wrote: "No Canadian resident will be disadvantaged if this potential donor were to come to Canada to donate a kidney.... In fact, by removing the recipient from the deceased donor list, it allows those recipients on the waiting list who do not have the option of a living donor to advance on the list."

Serrano's daughter has launched an online petition at vilmasfriends.wordpress.com.

Khadijah Haghighi, 17, left, was suspended from a Brampton high school for comments about her teacher on Twitter. The principal at St. Marguerite D'youville handed her a two-day suspension. She and her sister, Aminah, 22, on right, called the discipline "ridiculous." JEFF GREEN/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Teen suspended for 'loser' teacher tweet

Twitter. School board says suspension of five Brampton high school students was 'warranted'

Five Brampton high school students have been suspended for tweets sent after school hours that the board has characterized as malicious, explicitly sexual and violent in nature.

But at least one of them — a 17-year-old girl — was sent home for two days for comments on Twitter where she calls her teacher a "f— loser" who lives with his mother and eats fish sticks.

Khadijah Haghighi's comments were made off school property and on private time, but the forum — Twitter — is public, and that's enough to warrant a suspension, says the school board.

Haghighi is one of five students at Brampton's St. Marguerite d'Youville Secondary School who have received formal suspensions for comments about teachers on Twitter.

The tweets came to light over the weekend, Haghighi said, when a student told the school's administration.

"I still think that it is ridiculous. It wasn't that serious," Haghighi said from home while serving her second day of suspension.

"We strongly believe that the consequences meted out were well in line with the inappropriateness of the commentary," said Bruce Campbell, spokesman for the Dufferin-Peel Catholic School Board. He said it was Haghighi's "loser" comment that "warranted consequences."

Haghighi said she was told if she had made the same comments in the classroom, she would have been given an automatic four-day suspension.

The school's principal, Kevin Greco, spoke to the school Thursday morning on the subject of "dignity and respect, regardless of the medium," but did not tell the students the content of tweets that landed their peers suspensions.

In total, nine Grade 12 students were sent home Wednesday. Two were allowed to come back Thursday, while three were handed two-day suspensions.

"We don't monitor social media but when information comes to the attention of teachers, administrators, people like me at the school board, then we consider what that messaging is and we look into it," Campbell said.

Vaughan mom drops bid to axe oak trees

A Vaughan mother has dropped her controversial bid to see young oak trees, whose acorns she believed could pose a health risk for those with tree-nut allergies, removed from a local school.

In a letter sent to city staff and councillors Tuesday afternoon, Donna Giustizia said she has endured cyber-bullying and hateful letters since she made the request to the city this month. At a committee meeting on Nov. 6, Giustizia told councillors the oaks were littering the property at St. Stephen Catholic Elementary School with acorns that could be life-threatening for students with allergies to tree nuts.

Mayor's fate to be revealed Monday

Rob Ford might not be mayor of Toronto by this time next week.

Ford's fate in a conflict of interest hearing will be revealed at 10 a.m. Monday.

Among the possible scenarios, Justice Charles Hackland could decide Ford has breached the Municipal Conflict of Interest Act and must be removed from office. Hackland also has the option of banning Ford from running in the next election. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Human trafficking. RCMP launches awareness campaign for teens

Jasmine was a "dream kid" from a good family in York region, studying to be a pediatric gastroenterologist when she started as a stripper.

A student loan had run out, she wanted money for the cool things university friends had, and never believed she could be trapped into prostitution.

"I met this man, he seemed intriguing, he drove a Mercedes, he spoke very well, he promised me all these things that every girl wants to hear. He wanted to marry me, have kids with me, help me finish my schooling."

Valerie, from Quebec, met the boyfriend who would become her pimp when she was 15. "He followed me for eight months before I fell in love with him," she said.

She ended up working for him as a prostitute for four years, "the worst four years of my life. You don't see any exit when you're in this. It is the worst violence — physical, psychological violence."

Building awareness

The initiative is part of the work of the Human Trafficking National Coordination Centre in Ottawa, which has produced a package of videos, pamphlets, posters and parent-help sheets to build awareness among kids as young as 13.

The two young women, aged 26 and 27, did not want their full names used, but told their harrowing tales as part of an aggressive new campaign the RCMP is launching to work with high schools and youth organizations to stem human trafficking.

Part of their message at a news conference Thursday to release the toolkit for schools and counsellors of at-risk youth was that it can happen to anyone, to any family, in any part of the country.

Concerned family. Google recruited in investigation into email death threats

A Mississauga family devastated by emailed death threats sent from their children's school last year is now hoping Google can help end their ongoing nightmare. But it's unclear if the cyber-juggernaut will co-operate.

Peel police Sgt. Rob Higgs confirmed to Torstar News Service Wednesday that "information has been requested of Google by way of a search warrant."

Higgs said Peel Police began their own attempts to get information about the email account shortly after the threats were received. The information now being requested from Google's headquarters in California involves the federal government, he said.

Ashoak Grewal received four threatening emails from a Google Gmail account between late September and mid-October last year. They stated he and his family would be killed and his young daughter would be sexually assaulted before she died.

Father

"On an Internet crime, with all the information that's available about who set up the account ... how can there be no charges laid yet?"

Ashoak Grewal

Asked if Google will co-operate, a spokesperson for the company stated: "Like all law-abiding companies, we comply with valid legal requests. We take user privacy very seriously, and whenever we receive a request we make sure it meets both the letter and spirit of the law before complying."

Staff Inspector Greg McLane, standing next to a composite drawing of people of interest, speaks to media Thursday about additional charges to one of the two people in custody regarding the Danzig shooting. Second man faces murder charges in Danzig shootings

Cracking the case. Alleged member of the Galloway Boys was also shot in suspected gang rivalry shooting

Tracking suspects

"This investigation is far from over. I am confident my investigators will make further arrests."

Staff Insp. Greg McLane

A second man faces murder charges in the deadly mass shooting that broke out at a community barbecue on Danzig Street in July.

Nahom Tsegazab, 19, was charged Thursday with two counts of second-degree murder in the shooting that killed two innocent bystanders and wounded 23 people.

Tsegazab, who goes by the name "Gifted," was also charged with one count of attempted murder and 22 counts of aggravated assault. He has been in custody since days after the July 16 shooting, when he was charged with reckless discharge of a firearm.

Toronto police have alleged he is a member of the Galloway Boys street gang.

Tsegazab, who was also shot the night of the party, appeared briefly in a Scarborough court Thursday afternoon wearing an orange jumpsuit, handcuffs and a grim expression. He was remanded into custody and is scheduled to return late next week.

He is the second man charged with murder in what was the worst mass shooting in Toronto's history.

Earlier this month, police charged 18-year-old Shaquan "Bam Bam" Mesquito with two counts of first-degree murder, one count of attempted murder for allegedly shooting Tsegazab and 23 counts of aggravated assault.

Police allege Mesquito is a member of the Malvern Crew, a rival gang to the Galloway Boys.

Police say guns were pulled when an altercation broke out between rival gangs after a member of the Malvern Crew was turned away from the Danzig Street party and returned with reinforcements.

Shyanne Charles, 14, and Joshua Yasay, 23, were killed in the gunfire.

McLane said police are looking for "one or two more" shooters in the incident.

One of the men has been identified but police are not revealing a name. The second individual, who has a scar under his left eye, has been identified with the street name "Juvi."

Ombudsman takes aim at parking tickets

System under scrutiny. 'Many, many' motorists complained it's far easier to pay than fight, even when there's good reason: Fiona Crean

The City of Toronto makes it much easier to pay parking tickets than to fight them, says city ombudsman Fiona Crean.

Crean released a report Thursday urging the city to better inform motorists of circumstances that could cause a ticket to be cancelled before trial, to change wording on tickets that "downplay" the trial option, and consider a payment-dispute system completely outside the courts.

"There is a lack of balance of information on the ticket and on the (city) website," Crean said in an interview, adding the website information is "either obfuscated or not clear" on alternatives to straight payment.

"I'm not saying (the system) is wrong. I'm saying drivers need the full spectrum of information so they can decide how best to proceed."

Toronto issued 2.8 million tickets last year worth $80 million. After expenses, those fines parked $21 million in city coffers. Some 138,000 tickets were cancelled for one reason or another.

The city agrees with Crean's recommendations, a city spokeswoman said, and plans to implement them by the end of 2013.

TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

A better way?

Among Crean's recommendations for the city:

- Expand and clarify information on the tickets themselves, on the city website and at parking tag offices.
- Expand use of phone, email and fax contacts to explore ticket issues when in-person visits are not required.
- Look hard at moving to an "alternative dispute model" where motorists pay the fine but can appeal to a screening officer and, if necessary, a city tribunal instead of the courts.

Spreading cowboy spirit in the Big Smoke

Fletcher Armstrong, with the Calgary Grey Cup committee, rides his horse Marty out the front doors of the Royal York Hotel after touring through the front foyer on Thursday in Toronto. The tradition of Stamps fans riding a horse into the hotel lobby began in 1948 when Calgary won the CFL championship in Toronto. Earlier in the day, the 15-year-old dark brown stallion was turned away due to safety concerns. Hours later, after the Calgary fans took Marty to various spots around the city — including TV stations and an Irish pub for some apples and beer — the Royal York changed its mind about their four-legged guest. The Calgary Stampeders will play the Toronto Argonauts in the Canadian Football League Grey Cup on Sunday. More Grey Cup coverage starts on page 67. SEAN KILPATRICK/THE CANADIAN PRESS

Girl mauled

Battle over dog's life before courts

The owner of a rescued street dog from Panama that mauled a seven-year-old Toronto girl in August will defend against an attempt to have the dog put down.

April Douglas, a veterinary technician who faces allegations that sections of the Dog Owner's Liability Act have been violated, appeared in an Ontario Court of Justice on Thursday to set a pre-trial date for the case against her dog, Panny.

Douglas's lawyer, Crystal Tomusiak, said her client, who lives in a child-free home with her fiancé, has "found Panny to be gentle and obedient." She said the couple has obeyed the muzzle order issued by Toronto Animal Services following the incident, and is taking the dog for training.

Anna-Maria Mountfort, whose daughter Audrey received 40 stitches in her face, is pursuing a private prosecution to have the dog put down.

The pre-trial was set for Jan. 8. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

PAWS sanctuary 'not suitable' for Toronto's elephants: Zoo report

African elephant Toka, 41, at the Toronto Zoo. THE CANADIAN PRESS

The California sanctuary slated as the next home for the Toronto Zoo's three remaining elephants "isn't suitable" because it has a tuberculosis problem, says the zoo's CEO in a report set to go before city council next week.

The report from John Tracogna says that a due diligence review of PAWS by the zoo resulted in the sanctuary not providing all the medical records the zoo has asked for. The zoo also has concerns about steps PAWS has taken to contain "active" tuberculosis.

The zoo claims PAWS has "no workable transportation plan" in place to safely move Toronto's elephants.

Tracogna says the National Elephant Center in Florida, a sanctuary-like facility set to be completed next spring, has offered to take Toronto's elephants. He called the facility a "viable and excellent" option.

Last year, city council voted to send the animals to PAWS. However, a contract between PAWS and the zoo has a clause that says the zoo's CEO can kill the contract at no cost to either side if he is not satisfied after a due diligence review of the sanctuary.

But a spokesperson for Zoocheck Canada, the group representing PAWS on the transfer issue, says Toronto Zoo veterinarians who provided input for the CEO's report aren't infectious disease experts.

Julie Woodyer said Thursday she's obtaining a report from an independent infectious disease specialist with expertise on TB who concludes PAWS utilizes best practices for animal care and disease control. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Charter rights. Challenge to anti-terrorism tactics will see highest court

Mohamed Harkat THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Supreme Court of Canada will decide just how open the process should be when the federal government wants to deport a suspected terrorist from abroad.

The high court agreed Thursday to hear a challenge of the national security certificate system, a rarely used means of removing non-citizens accused of being terrorists or spies.

It will also review crucial issues related to evidence in the case of Algerian refugee Mohamed Harkat, arrested 10 years ago in Ottawa under a security certificate.

The hearing will come more than five years after the Conservative government retooled the certificate regime to make it consistent with the Charter of Rights and Freedoms. The Supreme Court will rule whether those reforms went far enough.

Harkat, 44, was taken into custody in December 2002 on suspicion of being an al-Qaida agent. He denies any involvement in terrorist activities.

Harkat lives at home but wears an electronic tracking bracelet on his ankle, must check in with authorities regularly and cannot leave town without permission.

The person named in a security certificate receives only a summary of the case against them — stripped of supporting information — which critics say makes the process wholly unfair. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Custody battle

Supreme Court won't hear 'fetus abduction' case

Canada's top court has declined to hear an appeal involving an Ontario woman's right to choose where to have her baby.

The case was prompted by a mother who left Canada when she was seven months pregnant. After the baby was born in California, the father started a custody battle in Ontario.

Initially, Ontario's Superior Court agreed the dispute should be heard, saying what the mother had done was tantamount to kidnapping.

Multiple sclerosis

Tories shut down MS therapy bill

The Conservatives have used their Senate majority to kill legislation that would have authorized a national strategy to deal with a controversial therapy for multiple sclerosis.

Liberal senators say it's shameful that Bill S-204 was squelched in committee. The Conservative senators argued this is a matter for science and medicine, not Parliament.

The bill would have required a national strategy and formal trials of what is known as liberation therapy, which involves opening up blocked neck veins. THE CANADIAN PRESS

B.C. court hears dogs were killed to be kind

Animal cruelty. Sled dog operator says he was forced to kill 56 dogs after company froze spending on care

Ingrid Katzberg attends the sentencing hearing for Robert Fawcett on Thursday. DARRYL DYCK/THE CANADIAN PRESS

A man who pleaded guilty to the slaughter of dozens of sled dogs will not spend time in prison, a judge has ruled, concluding the man had the "best interests" of the dogs at heart when he culled the pack near Whistler after a slump in business following the 2010 Olympics.

But while Judge Steve Merrick said he agreed with a psychiatrist's assessment that Robert Fawcett's actions were the result of mental instability, he noted: "(You) ought to have anticipated the possibility of the horrific circumstances that could result."

The aftermath from the April 2010 killing was laid bare in B.C. Supreme Court for the first time Thursday by Fawcett's lawyer, who described how hard it was for his client to even listen to details of killing his beloved animals again.

"I will never stop feeling guilty for the suffering that the dogs endured that day," said defence lawyer Greg Diamond, quoting his client.

Fawcett admitted in August to killing the dogs following a post-Olympic slump in sales. Court heard he felt forced when the owners of Howling Dog Tours put an "absolute freeze" on spending, other than for food and the bare minimum of labour.

At that point, Fawcett was working 150 hours over two weeks to care for the animals and watching their conditions deteriorate to the point where they were fighting and killing each other in their kennel.

"In part, he accepted the burden because he felt he could do it compassionately and he did not want that burden placed on anyone else," Diamond said.

Fawcett pleaded guilty to one count of causing unnecessary pain and suffering to animals, which relates to the deaths of nine dogs. More than 50 dogs were exhumed from a mass grave in May 2011 as part of a forensic investigation by the B.C. SPCA. Court heard most of the dogs that were shot did not suffer.

NEW VEHICLES, NEW EQUIPMENT PART OF TTC MODERNIZATION

ANDY BYFORD
CEO
TORONTO TRANSIT COMMISSION

Last week, I had the pleasure of attending the official unveiling of the first next-generation-streetcar test vehicle.

We will use this test vehicle and two others to make sure everything works as designed and to test it on our city's demanding curves and gradients. Lessons learned will then be fed back to the manufacturer, Bombardier, so they can build the 204 vehicles that will begin to enter service starting in 2014.

These new streetcars will transform the customer experience across our network, as they are fully accessible and air-conditioned. The cars are designed so they are ready to handle the new smart card once it is rolled out, and they will offer all-door boarding for a faster, more reliable ride. These vehicles are also bigger than the existing streetcars, thereby providing much needed additional capacity.

Next year also sees the return of articulated buses on our busiest bus routes. Again, these will be state-of-the-art vehicles to relieve congestion and give you a more pleasant travel experience.

Coupled with the ongoing introduction of Toronto Rocket subway trains, the planned introduction of the PRESTO smart card, and a new signal system, the TTC is progressively upgrading its technology, something I see as another key element to modernizing the TTC.

• Many thanks to everyone who attended our final customer Town Hall meeting of the year at city hall last week. We received excellent feedback, which is being written up and translated into action for further improvement to the system.

TTC SERVICE TO 100TH GREY CUP

With the construction of a second platform underway at the TTC's Union Station, those attending the 100th Grey Cup between the Toronto Argonauts and the Calgary Stampeders this Sunday are encouraged to use St Andrew Station as an alternative when travelling to and from the Rogers Centre.

From the Bloor-Danforth subway line, customers should use the University line by transferring at St George Station and heading south. Customers can also take the 504 King streetcar from either Dundas West or Broadview Stations, getting off at either Peter Street or John Street, or utilize the 510 Spadina streetcar from Spadina Station, getting off at King Street for the short walk south to the Rogers Centre.

The TTC is making it more convenient to attend the Grey Cup game with a commemorative Grey Cup Day Pass. The special pass is now available at TTC collector booths. For $10.50, the pass allows a single customer or a family/group of customers (must have at least one adult, maximum two adults; can include children/youth 19 years of age or under; total persons cannot exceed six) unlimited TTC travel from the start of service to the end of service on Sunday, Nov. 25.

FIND YOUR NEXT VEHICLE ARRIVAL TIME

This winter, instead of waiting in the cold, stay informed by connecting with the TTC before you go. For service advisories, customers can visit www.ttc.ca, register for TTC e-Services, follow @TTCnotices on Twitter or "like" our Facebook page.

Customers can find next-vehicle arrival times by visiting www.nextbus.com or by texting their local bus- or streetcar-stop number to 898882 ('txtttc'). If a delay is impacting your route, find an alternative by using the TTC Trip Planner at www.ttc.ca, or by calling 416-393-INFO (4636).

RECYCLE

Please keep the TTC litter-free. Recycle your reading materials in any station or platform receptacle.

DID YOU KNOW?

Digital video screens are located above the platforms in the majority of subway stations. A great source of information, these 101-centimetre flat screens show TTC service updates, next-train arrival times, the date and time, as well as news, weather, advertising, charity and community messages. During emergencies, key information will appear on these screens.

Tortoise resurrection to be tried

Galapagos Islands. Will take at least 100 years to revive a species recently declared extinct, researcher says

Lonesome George, the late reptile prince of the Galapagos Islands, may be dead, but scientists now say he may not be the last giant tortoise of his species after all.

Researchers say they may be able to resurrect the Pinta Island subspecies by launching a cross-breeding program with 17 other tortoises found to contain genetic material similar to that of Lonesome George, who died June 24 at the Pacific Ocean archipelago off Ecuador's coast after repeated failed efforts to reproduce. Edwin Naula, director of the Galapagos National Park, said in a telephone interview on Thursday that the probability is high it can be accomplished.

"It would be the first time that a species was recovered after having been declared extinct," Naula said.

But it won't happen overnight. "This is going to take about 100 to 150 years," Naula added.

Scientists took DNA samples from 1,600 tortoises on Wolf volcano, and found the Pinta variety in 17, though their overall genetic makeup varied.

Through cross-breeding, "100 per cent pure species" can be achieved, said Naula, a biologist. At least 14 species of giant tortoise originally inhabited the islands, which are 1,000 kilometres off Ecuador's coast, THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

United no more? Name change floated for Mexico

Mexico's president is making one last attempt to get the United States out of Mexico — at least as far as the country's name is concerned.

The country's formal name is the United Mexican States, but few people use it.

President Felipe Calderon wants to make it simply Mexico.

He says the name was adopted in 1824 to imitate the United States of America.

Calderon said Thursday Mexico doesn't need to emulate anyone. The constitutional reform would have to be approved by both houses of Congress and a majority of Mexico's 31 state legislatures. However, Calderon leaves office on Dec. 1.

United Arab Emirates. Two jailed for cab tryst

A Dubai court has sentenced an Irish man and British woman to three months in jail for an alleged intimate tryst in the back of a taxi.

But the couple has denied the charges and have accused the taxi driver of fabricating the story after a fare dispute.

The sentence on Thursday is the latest case of Westerners running afoul of the social codes in the United Arab Emirates, which maintains strict laws on sex-related issues.

Prosecutors accused the pair of removing some clothing and fondling each other in a cab in May. The judge says the pair will be deported after serving their sentences.

Pigeons. Church hatch lets in two tonnes of poop

A hatch on a Swedish church tower inadvertently left open for three decades resulted in two tons of pigeon droppings amassing in the tower.

The church's property manager says the layer of droppings was 30 centimetres deep when it was discovered during a May inspection of the Heliga Trefaldighets Kyrka in Gavle, 170 kilometres north of Stockholm.

Lennart Helzenius said on Thursday that church staff had been shocked by the sheer number of bags of excrement cleaners were removing from the tower.

The pigeon droppings from the tower filled more than 160 bags.

Congo. Rebels vow to press ahead with offensive into eastern Congo

Congolese soldiers and rebel fighters battled for hours over the eastern town of Sake on Thursday, forcing thousands of people to flee as the militants seeking to overthrow the government vowed to push forward despite mounting international pressure.

Meanwhile, the leader of the rebel group known as M23 headed to neighbouring Uganda where emergency talks were held this week between the presidents of Congo and its neighbours Uganda and Rwanda.

Fighting broke out Thursday just before noon in the Sake, which the rebels had seized Wednesday after capturing the strategic provincial capital of Goma, about 27 kilometres away.

Rebel spokesman Lt. Col. Vianney Kazarama vowed that the fighters would press on and seize the strategic eastern town of Bukavu, which would mark the biggest gain in rebel territory in nearly a decade if it were to fall.

No oversight. Egypt's president grants himself far-reaching powers

Egyptian president Mohammed Morsi issued constitutional amendments on Thursday that placed him above judicial oversight and ordered the retrial of Hosni Mubarak for the killing of protesters in last year's uprising.

Morsi also decreed immunity for the Islamist-dominated panel drafting a new constitution from any possible court decisions to dissolve it, a threat that had been hanging over the controversial assembly.

The moves effectively remove any oversight on Morsi, the Muslim Brotherhood figure who became Egypt's first freely elected president last summer after the Feb. 11, 2011, fall of Mubarak. They come as Morsi is riding high on lavish praise from President Barack Obama and Secretary of State Hillary Rodham Clinton for mediating an end to eight days of fighting between Israel and Gaza's Hamas rulers.

Giving the gift of sight to hundreds of Indonesians

Healing camps.
Country has one of the highest rates of blindness in the world

They came from the remotest parts of Indonesia, taking crowded overnight ferries and riding for hours in cars or buses, all in the hope that a simple, and free, surgical procedure would restore their eyesight.

Many patients were elderly and needed help to reach two hospitals in Sumatra where mass eye camps were held this month by Nepalese surgeon Dr. Sanduk Ruit. During eight days, more than 1,400 cataracts were removed.

The patients camped out, sleeping side-by-side on military cots, eating donated food while fire trucks supplied them with water for showers and toilets.

Many who had given up hope of ever seeing again left smiling after their bandages were removed.

"I've been blind for three years, and it's really bad," said Arlita Tobing, 65, whose sight was restored after the surgery. "I worked on someone's farm, but I couldn't work anymore."

Indonesia has one of the highest rates of blindness in the world, making it a target country for Ruit, who travels throughout the developing world holding free mass eye camps while training doctors to perform the simple, stitch-free procedure he pioneered.

He often visits hard-to-reach remote areas where health care is scarce and patients are poor. He believes that by teaching doctors how to perform his method of cataract removal, the rate of blindness can be reduced worldwide.

"We get only one life, and that life is very short. I am blessed by God to have this opportunity," said Ruit, who runs the Tilganga Eye Center in Kathmandu, Nepal. "The most important of that is training, taking the idea to other people." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The blight of blindness

- Cataracts are the leading cause of blindness globally, affecting about 20 million people who mostly live in poor countries, the World Health Organization says.
- During the recent camps, Ruit trained six doctors from Indonesia, Thailand and Singapore.

EU Parliament votes to ban shark finning

Speciality. Practice stems from the high price the body parts fetch in China for shark-fin soup

The European Union took a major step to protect sharks on Thursday, banning the brutal practice of hacking off their fins before throwing them back into the sea to die.

The European Parliament voted by an overwhelming 566-47 margin to force all boats in EU waters and EU-registered vessels around the world to land sharks with their fins attached and prove the animal had not been thrown back finless.

The practice of shark finning stems from the high price the body parts fetch in China for shark-fin soup, a specialty at high-class banquets, and the low value of the rest of the body. The consumption of fins has risen as China's living standards have increased. Fins can sell for as much as $700 US a pound.

The European Union has said that some 75 million sharks are killed for their fins only. Since the EU is the biggest exporter, the move should have a sizable impact on shark populations.

The International Union for the Conservation of Nature says that about one-third of sharks and rays are threatened both in EU waters and around the globe.

Conservation concerns

- Spain is the top fin exporter. The Oceana conservation group said the EU is the largest shark-fishing power in the world, with 17 per cent of reported shark catches, and the largest exporter of shark fins to Hong Kong and mainland China.

Enclosure escape

White tiger attacks zoo employees

A rare white tiger attacked three employees in a Czech zoo Thursday after escaping from its enclosure, officials said.

Lenka Markovicova, spokeswoman for the rescuers in the northern city of Liberec, said one man has been hospitalized with head injuries. She said he is not in life-threatening condition. Two women suffered minor injuries and were also taken to the local hospital for treatment.

Not welcome. Chris Brown cancels Guyana concert over protests

Organizers say American R&B star Chris Brown has cancelled a stadium concert in Guyana after local protests over his 2009 beating of then-girlfriend Rihanna.

Brown was billed to headline a Dec. 26 show. But he drew the ire of women's-rights groups and opposition lawmakers who said Brown would not be welcome in Guyana three years after his assault of the Barbadian superstar.

Concert promoter Hits & Jams Entertainment said Thursday that Brown backed out, citing discomfort with the protests. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wife of ex-Ivory Coast leader charged with rape, murder

Simone Gbagbo. International Criminal Court unseals indictment against former first lady

The International Criminal Court unsealed an indictment Thursday against former Ivory Coast president Laurent Gbagbo's wife on charges including murder, rape and persecution. It was the first time in the court's 10-year history it has charged a woman.

The world's first permanent war-crimes tribunal said the arrest warrant was issued on Feb. 29 for former first lady Simone Gbagbo for crimes against humanity.

Her husband is in custody at the court's detention unit in The Hague facing similar charges stemming from his fight to retain power after losing a 2010 presidential election. If his wife is extradited, they could face justice together in an unprecedented husband-wife trial.

But a senior member of Ivory Coast President Alassane Ouattara's government, who requested anonymity because he wasn't authorized to speak to the media, said Ivory Coast has already informed the ICC that the nation will not let her go.

Mounting tension

The Ivory Coast told the ICC "a long time ago" it will not extradite Simone Gbagbo.

- Hoping for a change of heart. The court's chief prosecutor, Fatou Bensouda, urged Ivory Coast to extradite Gbagbo.
- More to come. Bensouda said prosecutors continue to investigate crimes committed by both sides in Ivory Coast's bloody power struggle and expect to issue further arrest warrants in the future.

Burkina Faso

Hundreds of children freed from forced labour

Police found children, some as young as six, working deep in gold mines and cotton fields around Burkina Faso. They were unpaid and unschooled. Some were being sexually abused.

An international police operation has freed nearly 400 children from forced labour in the West African country and arrested 73 people suspected of child trafficking or forced labour, Interpol announced Thursday.

It was a rare victory against forced child labour in West Africa, which has some of the world's highest poverty rates. Young boys are often sent to work as hired hands in other people's fields or are employed in the numerous mines that dot the countryside. Young girls are frequently sent to work as maids in the homes of the urban elite.

The Interpol-organized operation in Burkina Faso targeted children sold and forced into labour by traffickers. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Phone hacking. British media set to face the music

It's judgment day for Britain's press.

After nearly 18 months of damaging revelations about widespread media misconduct, the senior judge tapped to investigate the ethics and practices of some of the English-speaking world's most powerful newspapers will deliver his verdict next Thursday.

Lord Justice Brian Leveson's inquiry was launched in response to the phone-hacking scandal at Rupert Murdoch's News of the World, where journalists routinely intercepted phone messages to obtain sensational stories and allegedly engaged in computer hacking and bribery, too.

Leveson's recommendations have been a matter of intense speculation since the inquiry was ordered by Prime Minister David Cameron in July 2011. Leveson could recommend new rules for journalists, suggest a new press watchdog or simply endorse the status quo.

Journalists' union set for protest strike

The Italian journalists' union has announced a national strike Monday to protest a proposed law that maintains a Fascist-era provision for jail time for journalists convicted of libel while reducing penalties for their editors to fines.

The Senate will vote Monday on the measure, which would carry a penalty of up to one year in jail for journalists convicted of libel, while the editor in charge risks fines of $64,000.

Parliament took up the law after a rightist editor was given a 14-month sentence for libel. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

U.K. politician calling for new vote on women bishops

Church of England. MPs push for action in wake of controversial vote by General Synod

The Church of England should hold another vote on women bishops as soon as possible, its representative in the House of Commons said Thursday, while some members suggested stripping the church of its exemption from sex-discrimination laws.

Legislation to permit women to become bishops was blocked in the church's governing General Synod on Tuesday, a result that has drawn harsh criticism in Parliament.

"This is not an issue which can in any way be parked for the next couple of years or so awaiting another round of synod elections," said Tony Baldry, a member of Parliament who is officially designated to speak for the church.

Church legislation to permit women to serve as bishops failed to win the necessary two-thirds majority among lay members of the General Synod. Church officials have said it could take five years to lay the ground for another vote, but Baldry said this should not be necessary.

The church has been unable to find a formula that meets the objections of traditionalists who believe only men can be priests and bishops, without at the same time offending women by restricting their authority and status as bishops.

Frank Field, a legislator and former member of the General Synod, introduced a bill on Thursday to strip the church of its exemption from sex-discrimination laws. More drastically, there has been talk of ending the church's status as the state church governed by the monarch.

Pre-emptive strike. Tories target Trudeau as poll suggests growing favour Conservatives have launched their first concerted attack on Justin Trudeau — and a new poll may explain why.

The Canadian Press Harris-Decima survey suggests the Liberal leadership front-runner's popularity is not the fleeting celebrity phenomenon that the skeptics had assumed.

It's actually increasing and has the potential to siphon off votes from all parties, including the Tories.

Forty-two per cent of respondents said they'd be certain or likely to vote Liberal in the next election if Trudeau was at the helm — enough to form a comfortable Liberal majority government.

The poll was released Thursday just as the Conservatives pounced on a two-year-old television interview to accuse Trudeau of being anti-Alberta.

In the interview with the Tele-Quebec program Les francs-tireurs, Trudeau said: "Canada isn't doing well right now because it's Albertans who control our community and socio-democratic agenda. It doesn't work."

Trudeau's campaign swiftly issued a statement accusing the Tories of using "out-of-context statements made years ago in a long interview" to launch a desperate "smear campaign" aimed at reviving the faltering Conservative by-election campaign in Calgary Centre.

The resurrected Trudeau quotes piled on a gaffe a day earlier by Ottawa Liberal MP David McGuinty. He resigned his shadow cabinet post as natural-resources critic after saying Alberta Tory MPs are "shills" for the oil industry and should go home.

Charges dismissed for MMA fighter spotted naked in church

Mayhem Miller. Host of MTV's Bully Beatdown was accused of vandalizing and destroying property in Southern California house of worship.

A misdemeanour vandalism charge has been dismissed against mixed-martial-arts fighter and reality-show host Jason "Mayhem" Miller, who was found naked in a Southern California church.

Court records show that the 31-year-old Miller had the charge dismissed at a hearing Wednesday.

Miller was found nude in a church three months ago by a pastor, who called authorities when he found books and CDs that were strewn about and missing boards from a previously-broken window.

Orange County prosecutors said Miller was accused of breaking at least one picture frame, spray-painting inside the church and damaging a propane tank and other items.

Miller has fought for several organizations, including the UFC, and hosted the MTV show "Bully Beatdown."

The Ice Lady found guilty of murder

Austria. Estibaliz C to appeal life sentence for grisly double murder

An Austrian ice cream parlour owner has been found guilty of killing her ex-husband and a boyfriend before chopping them up with a chain saw and burying them in concrete in her shop's basement.

A Vienna court convicted the 34-year-old woman of murder Thursday and handed her a life sentence, ordering her to be held in psychiatric care, according to Austrian news agency APA.

The woman, identified only as Estibaliz C, confessed to the murders Monday but her lawyer said she will appeal.

The woman, dubbed the "Ice Lady" by Austrian media, shot the men in 2008 and 2010, putting their body parts in a freezer before burying them in her cellar. She had told the court her ex-husband failed to leave her alone and the boyfriend cheated on her.

Iran

Crackdown on web dissent continues

In his last blog entry, activist Sattar Beheshti wrote that Iranian authorities had given him an ultimatum: either stop posting his "big-mouth" attacks against the ruling system or tell his mother that she will soon be in mourning.

"We will tear down your cruel cage," Beheshti typed on Oct. 29 before signing off.

A day later he was arrested. Within a week, his family had collected his body. They began calls for an investigation that have been echoed by Washington, European allies and rights groups.

Arrests of activists and claims of abuse in detention are commonplace in Iran, but deaths behind bars are much rarer. Iran's judiciary responded to the growing pressure and authorized an investigation. It claims three of Beheshti's interrogators have been arrested while post-mortem reports are studied.

The 35-year-old Beheshti, an obscure blogger whose site was followed by only a few dozen viewers, apparently fell under the custody of Iran's cyber police, created with a wide mandate to crush web dissent.

Last month, the UN's Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights warned of "a further severe clampdown on critical voices" in Iran. Even a former Iranian intelligence minister called Beheshti's death in custody a "disaster" for Iran's leaders.

Harper opts out of provincial gathering

Canada's premiers are arriving in Halifax in the hopes of striking a common economic plan at a time of tepid growth and mounting debt.

But Prime Minister Stephen Harper's absence from the meeting, which begins Friday, threatens to derail that goal, a couple of them say.

"It's difficult for us to know how we can best blend our own planning in with the funding of the federal government if we don't know what their plans are," said Nova Scotia Premier Darrell Dexter, who is hosting the meeting.

The idea for such a gathering came up during the last premiers' meeting in July, when they agreed to discuss how they could protect their provinces from a global economy in flux. That was before revised figures came out showing a higher federal deficit and growing concerns over the possibility of the U.S. economy going over its so-called fiscal cliff at the end of next month.

Stephen Harper. THE CANADIAN PRESS/FILE

The premiers invited Harper, but he declined. His office has said he has met regularly with the provincial leaders and the economy remains his prime concern, but that response hasn't sat well with a few of them.

"I think we're all disappointed that we couldn't get an opportunity to meet with the prime minister and to build a strong plan for economic growth together," Ontario Premier Dalton McGuinty said earlier this week. "We'll see what we can do by way of a concerted effort."

Mayor Fontana says he'll fight to clear his name

RCMP charges. 'I'm not going to abandon my post', mayor says, refusing to step down

ANGELA MULLINS
Metro in London

Mayor Joe Fontana makes a statement during a news conference in London, on Thursday, about charges he is facing after an RCMP investigation.

DAVE CHIDLEY/THE CANADIAN PRESS

Innocent and not going anywhere.

That was the message from London, Ont., Mayor Joe Fontana, who dug his heels into the sand Thursday, making his first public statement since being charged Tuesday by the RCMP.

"I intend to fight as hard as I possibly can to clear my name," Fontana said. "I have a responsibility and obligation that was given to me by the people of London two years ago.

"I intend to fulfill my responsibilities."

Fontana — accused of using taxpayer money to cover a $1,700 room deposit for his son's 2005 wedding reception — said the court case won't be a distraction as budget talks start at city hall.

"I am confident that this council, the community (can) come together so that we can complete the work that's been requested of us," he said.

"I truly understand and realize some anguish and pain, disappointment, frustration, anger that has been caused by this incident," the mayor said.

"I feel it right here for the people of London, for my family, for my colleagues for those who had supported me (and) for those people who care about our city," he said putting his hand on his heart.

Fontana has resigned from the police services board because provincial law bans people facing charges from being appointed to the post.

The Municipal Act carries no such requirement for those elected to office.

Lawyer Gordon Cudmore, who's representing Fontana, slammed the court of public opinion Thursday for spreading "substantial misinformation" and "speculation" about "what actually occurred regarding payment of the Fontana wedding."

Fontana, under Mountie investigation since Oct. 19, is guaranteed a presumption of innocence as the court case — which could take about a year — unfolds, Cudmore said.

Fontana's first court appearance will be Jan. 8.

Charges

- London, Ont., Mayor Joe Fontana is facing criminal charges that stem from his days as a London North Centre MP and federal cabinet minister under then-prime minister Paul Martin.
- The charges are: Breach of trust by a public officer, fraud under $5,000, uttering forged documents.

Gaza crisis: Both sides claim victory

After 8 days fighting: 161 Palestinians killed, including 71 civilians; six Israelis killed including two soldiers and four civilians

Hamas leaders and thousands of flag-waving supporters declared victory over Israel on Gaza's first day of calm under an Egyptian-brokered truce Thursday, as Israeli officials flew to Cairo for talks on easing a blockade on the battered Palestinian territory.

Eight days of punishing Israeli airstrikes on Gaza and a barrage of Hamas rocket fire on Israel ended inconclusively. While Israel said it inflicted heavy damage on the militants, Gaza's Hamas rulers claimed that Israel's decision not to send in ground troops, as it had four years ago, was a sign of a new deterrent power.

The mood in Israel was mixed. Some were grateful that quiet had been restored without a ground operation that could have cost the lives of more soldiers. Others — particularly those in southern Israel hit by rockets over the past 13 years — thought the operation was abandoned too quickly.

Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu said the offensive's aims of halting Gaza rocket fire and weakening Hamas were achieved.

Despite the tough talk, the ceasefire raised hopes of a new era between Israel and Hamas. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Side effects

- The fighting brought the Islamists unprecedented political recognition, with foreign ministers from Turkey and several Arab states visiting — a sharp contrast to Hamas' past isolation.
- Israel and the United States, even while formally sticking to a policy of shunning Hamas, also acknowledged its central role by engaging in indirect negotiations with them.
- Egypt emerged as the pivotal mediator, raising its stature as a regional power.

An Israeli soldier guides a tank to a new position at a staging area near the Gaza Strip border in southern Israel Thursday. A ceasefire agreement between Israel and the Gaza Strip's Hamas rulers took effect Wednesday night, bringing an end to eight days of fierce fighting. LEFTERIS PITARAKIS/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Paying high insurance rates because you're a high-risk driver?

There are still ways to save on car insurance.

A high-risk driver is someone who, due to a combination of factors, presents a high likelihood of a claim. There is a combination of things that would work together to give you this status, as it's usually not just one incident. New drivers or drivers who have multiple tickets and accidents on their driving record are typically labeled as high-risk drivers. This presents a high likelihood of having an at-fault accident that the insurance company will have to pay for in the event of a claim.

High-risk drivers usually pay much higher insurance rates; and some insurance companies will not renew their policy. If that occurs, there are still options for the high-risk driver.

Insurance for High Risk Drivers. Even if you have been with the same company for many years, the level of risk may lead to a non-renewal of the policy. When faced with the inability to qualify for a standard policy, high-risk drivers can turn to specialty auto insurance companies for coverage. Today, there are many more choices than there once were for high-risk drivers to obtain coverage. A number of insurance companies have stepped up to fill the gap and help these drivers get back on the road. It's important that high-risk drivers take this seriously and focus on becoming safer drivers in order to get back to a low-risk status.

Saving on High-Risk Insurance. By its nature, high-risk insurance costs more than a standard policy. Because the risk of a claim is much higher, the insurance company must spread some of the risk and increase the cost of premium; for protection in the event of a large claim. This does not mean there is no way to save on insurance if you are a high-risk driver; it's just a little trickier. The number one way for a high-risk driver to save money is to shop around. Use a quoting site like InsuranceHotline.com, to get quotes from over 30 insurance companies and compare insurance rates for free. You could save money in just a few minutes.

The difference between thinking you have a good rate and knowing you have a great rate.

Your search for the right insurance rate should be exhaustive, not exhausting. InsuranceHotline.com is the only unbiased insurance rate-comparison site in Canada, and features a network of over 30 premier insurance companies competing for your business. So whether you're looking for the lowest price or the highest level of service or something in between, you'll find it here.

Real estate. Canadian homes slightly more affordable in 3rd quarter

The cost of home ownership became more affordable in the most recent quarter due to a modest decline in home prices and gains in Canadian household incomes, according to a Royal Bank study.

RBC's affordability index for a detached bungalow stood at 42 per cent of income nationally in the third quarter.

That means an owner would need to spend 42 per cent of pre-tax annual income to pay for mortgage payments, utilities and property taxes — one percentage point lower than in the second quarter of 2012.

That assumes an average home price of $362,100 and an average qualifying income of $78,100, but those measures varied widely from market to market.

The index fell even more for two-storey homes, by 1.2 percentage points to 47.8 per cent and eased 0.6 percentage points to 28 per cent for condos.

"The costs of owning a home at current market prices took a smaller bite of household budget in all major markets in Canada in the third quarter of 2012," the report said.

The bank, which publishes the index on a quarterly basis, says ultra-low interest rates have been the key factor in keeping affordability standards from reaching dangerous levels in recent years.

Still, top government officials have warned that low interest rates are encouraging some buyers to spend beyond what they'll be able to afford when rates inevitably rise. Household debt stands at a record 163 per cent of income. That means for every dollar Canadians earn, they owe $1.63 in debt.

- RBC notes that Canada's housing market cooled further in the third quarter partially because of the effects of a fourth round of rule changes to government-backed mortgage insurance.

Layaway returns to retail scene

Credit crunch. Maxed out consumers bring instalment concept back into vogue

Wedding consultant Shirley-Anna Thompson, who purchased all her dresses on a layaway plan at David's Bridal when she renewed her vows this year, hangs up dresses as she works at the Toronto store. MICHELLE SIU/THE CANADIAN PRESS

Most holiday shoppers will be armed with cash, debit or credit cards during the busiest shopping season of the year, but for those on a tight budget, the layaway counter can provide an affordable way to buy gifts.

Layaway allows people to buy an item by putting down a deposit and paying off the rest in instalments, usually without interest.

Some stores do charge a service or storage fee. Once the item is paid off, you're free to bring it home.

This buying option may seem an antiquated way of doing things, especially in a society used to the immediate gratification of credit.

Layaway was introduced during the Great Depression but easy credit and boom times had made it mostly a thing of the past. The concept has become in vogue again, thanks in part to belt-tightening since the recession.

In September, Toys "R" Us and Walmart in the U.S. announced they were starting their layaway plans a month earlier than last year due to demand from customers who said they needed extra time to pay the purchases off. Both companies, along with Kmart and Sears, revised their plans and dropped the service charges for the holiday season.

The buying option, however, is more rare in Canada. It is not available at Toys "R" Us and Sears in Canada and there's only a number of Walmart stores that still offer layaway north of the border.

But Doug Stephens, retail analyst and president of Retail Prophet Consulting, said the practice may soon become more common in Canada.

"We're going to see it more and more in the very near future because it's no secret now that Canadians are coming into the end of their string on credit." THE CANADIAN PRESS

Beker injects some attitude into plus-size clothing

Retail. Fashion guru's capsule collection for Addition Elle aims to fill gap in market

Jeanne Beker, left, with a model wearing items from the Edit by Jeanne Beker for Addition Elle capsule collection, which will arrive in stores next April. ADDITION ELLE/THE CANADIAN PRESS

Collection

- The 19-piece capsule collection will feature fashions ranging in size from 14 to 24 with items priced between $69.99 and $139.99.
- The debut spring line will arrive at 50 Addition Elle stores across Canada next April.

With a sister and childhood friend who are both plus-sized, the lament about a lack of stylish options for full-figured women was one Jeanne Beker has heard plenty.

"My whole life growing up I heard those kinds of complaints and the kinds of frustration that they were going through," the longtime fashion and media maven and Metro columnist said in an interview.

"Everything just seemed so 'missy,' or people were complaining about the kinds of prints that they were being offered, and they weren't being offered a lot of that same attitude that we saw in the regular-sized lines. Now, it's all coming together."

Beker will be putting her own sartorial stamp on fashions for fuller-figured women through a partnership with Addition Elle.

The style columnist and Fashion Television Channel host teamed up with the retailer on a plus-size capsule collection. The collaboration will bring extended sizing of the Edit by Jeanne Beker line to Addition Elle stores starting next spring.

Edit by Jeanne Beker launched at the Bay in 2010, a line she envisioned as essentials to be mixed and matched and serve as the "bare bones" of a woman's wardrobe.

Beker said about two seasons into the creation of Edit, they made a foray into the plus-size market. While some of the pieces "would just fly off the rack," she said others weren't resonating to the same degree.

"We started thinking: 'You know, what are we doing wrong?' because the regular-sized line is doing so well.... And what we realized was that some pieces just don't translate." THE CANADIAN PRESS

Quoted

"There really has been a void in the (plus-size) market I think for clothes that just were sophisticated in a sense, but with a hip kind of maybe edge to them; like a kind of attitude we weren't seeing." Jeanne Beker

GREY CUP KICKS OFF, TWINKIE DEMISE MAY BE INTERCEPTED

THE LIST
Mike Benhaim
metronews.ca

1 Snack attack: Newly-defunct Hostess Brands Inc., who brought you Twinkies and Ding Dongs, is liquidating its assets. Major competitor Flower Foods saw their stock rise amid rumours they may acquire parts of Hostess' business. They are especially optimistic about states with legalized marijuana.

2 Stay tuned: CBC has asked the CRTC to ease regulations so they can respond to changing technological demands. Details of the proposal were missed by CRTC members struggling to adjust the coat hangers on their antennae.

3 Quantum leap: Astronomers have discovered a new planet thought to be 13 times larger than Jupiter, and 2.5 times the mass of the sun. So my question is, how did we miss this? Thank you for making my fourth grade science teacher look like a putz.

4 Swift reaction: Apparently, Taylor Swift was not amused by jokes of her breakup at the CMAs, marking the point that comes for all celebrities when they begin taking themselves too seriously. Imagine joking publicly about a song based on her private relationship that, over the last three months, has been played more than the national anthem. Well, I never, ever, ever...

5 Love hurts. Last July in Florida, a 72-year-old husband was stabbed in the arm by his 27-year-old wife after accusing her of cheating (you don't say). Now separated, Brygida Scheffler told police she's seen her ex drive by her home, and believes he is stalking her. Maciej Nowicki says he did not "intentionally" follow her. He probably just forgot where he lived ... and that she stabbed him!

6 100th Grey Cup. The Toronto Argos play host to the Calgary Stampeders on Sunday, and people from coast to coast are pumped for this historic event. The game will feature performances by everyone from Burton Cummings and Gordon Lightfoot to Justin Bieber and Carly Rae Jepsen. The only drawback is that we'll have to hear Call Me Maybe one more freakin' time.

7 We Will Rock You. This week in 1975, rock band Queen was No. 1 in the U.K. with Bohemian Rhapsody. A promotional video was released, which could also be used to avoid performing the complex, studio-perfected harmonies. Musicologists call this the first music video ever. The song was No. 1 for nine weeks, and rose again in 1991 after singer Freddie Mercury died, becoming the first song to make No. 1 twice with one version. At almost six minutes long, record execs said it would never be a hit.

8 Best medicine. Living with illness is never fun, but laughing about it can't hurt. Well, maybe it can, but Julie Devaney risks it in her new book, My Leaky Body, and she is touring the country sharing her experiences in the most entertaining way. Her next stop is the Crohn's and Colitis symposium in Halifax on Sunday, followed by Vancouver, Winnipeg, Ottawa, Kingston and Montreal. For details, check out myleakybody.com.

Fossilized hardware resuscitated

The world's oldest original working digital computer has been rebooted after lying forgotten in storage for 20 years.

Need a film to lighten the zombie experience? Try Shaun of the Dead HANDOUT

Reel Guys

RICHARD CROUSE AND MARK BRESLIN

Films to occupy in the zombie off-season

Bye, bye brain eaters. With The Walking Dead season drawing to an end, the Reel Guys offer some undead suggestions

Richard: Mark, several episodes from this season's Walking Dead were among the best television of the year. It owes a HUGE debt to George A. Romero's classic Night of the Living Dead, but I still watch even though it gives me weird dreams every Sunday night. To calm my jangled nerves, I've been checking out zombie comedies like Shaun of the Dead and Cemetery Man. Everyone knows Shaun, but Cemetery's weird story is worth a look. Are you a zombie fan?

Mark: Depends on the zombie, Richard. I didn't get a chance to catch up with the Walking Dead series because I was too busy watching the brainwashed terrorist zombies in Homeland. A different kind of zombie, to be sure, but zombies all the same. I think the faster the zombies move, the more I like the movie. Those slow-walking, arms-outstretched flesh eaters aren't that different than most of the clubbers I see at closing time on Saturday nights. I've never seen Cemetery Man, but it looks interesting. Thanks for the tip.

RC: The whole slow-moving zombies versus fast-moving zombies debate is an argument for the ages. I guess I'm a traditionalist. I like the Romero zombie, the bumbling undead who mindlessly and relentlessly keep hunting for braaains. Dawn of the Dead, I Walked with a Zombie and Lucio Fulci's Zombi are masterpieces of the slow shuffle. You might like the remake of Dawn of the Dead. Man those zombies can run!

MB: I did like that one, along with Zombieland, Dead Snow (Nazi zombies, what's not to like?), and the zombie comedy (zomcom?) Fido starring Billy Connelly as a kindly zombie. But the big question in all the zombie films is: How do you get away from a zombie? Well, it seems that the meat that tastes closest to human flesh is pig! So I say, when confronted with a pack of zombies, let loose the porkers!

RC: Good advice. I'd add another zombie apocalypse tip I picked up from the movie Zombieland. You are at your most vulnerable while sitting on the toilet, so hold it as long as you can. Also, having a machine gun where your leg used to be, à la Rose McGowan in Planet Terror, can be very useful.

MB: I'm old school, Richard. I prefer having both legs to utilize the strategy of actually running away. And remember, when being chased by a zombie, you don't have to be the fastest runner, just faster than the guy behind you.

Synopsis

As The Walking Dead shambles toward its season finale in December, the Reel Guys suggest some infectious zombie movies to keep you entertained until the show lumbers back to air next year.

Drama

A Late Quartet

Director. Yaron Zilberman

Stars. Philip Seymour Hoffman, Mark Ivanir, Catherine Keener and Christopher Walken

Framed by Beethoven's Opus 131 String Quartet in C-sharp minor, the film focuses on members of a world-renowned string quartet struggling with change as they enter their 25th season. Walken, the group's cellist and leader, is diagnosed with career-ending Parkinson's, and sets off a chain reaction of sexual, artistic and professional tensions pent up for 25 years. It's an odd but well-balanced tale of elite artistry and domestic melodrama.

ANNE BRODIE

Documentary

The Fruit Hunters

Director. Yung Chang

Stars. Bill Pullman

Around the world there are thousands of exotic fruits you may have never heard of. The durian, for example, smells like a sewer but tastes like pudding. Yung Chang's latest documentary introduces the fruit hunters — the obsessive frugivores who are determined to find these rare fruits and preserve them for generations to come. But Chang never quite decides whether he's making a serious film about the challenges of preservation or a quirky film about lychee-lovers. On their own, these would make interesting films. But together, the impact of both is lost.

REGAN REID

Drama

Ecstasy

Director. Rob Heydon

Stars. Adam Sinclair, Kristen Kreuk, Billy Boyd

Lloyd Buist (Sinclair) smuggles Ecstasy by day and takes it by night. But when this smooth-talking party boy meets Heather (Kreuk) at a rave, he decides to give up his day job for his new-found love. At least, he thinks he loves her. But it could just be the E playing tricks with his emotions. The film features an impressive soundtrack, which makes its many rave scenes burst with energy. Unfortunately, Ecstasy is not 99 minutes of DJs and dancing and the rest of the story is far less absorbing.

REGAN REID

Drama

Hitchcock

Director. Sacha Gervasi

Stars. Anthony Hopkins, Helen Mirren, Scarlett Johansson

Somewhere between Toby Jones' portrayal in HBO's dour The Girl and Anthony Hopkins' turn in Hitchcock are the real facts. Certainly much of Hitchcock — loosely based on Stephen Rebello's book The Making of Psycho — is a fairy tale, whitewashing the grimmer side of the filmmaking process in favour of a lighthearted peek at the love affair between Hitch and his wife/partner Alma (Helen Mirren) during the making of his notorious work. Hopkins and Mirren are a joy to watch. But compared to the darker The Girl, Hitchcock feels trite. CHRIS ALEXANDER

Documentary

Ping Pong

Director. Hugh Hartford

Stars. Les D'Arcy, Terry Donlon

Focused on a particularly inspiring set of octogenarians who find purpose in the sport of table tennis, Ping Pong is a breezy, thoroughly charming documentary. A fascinating examination of eight international competitors in the over-80s category at the World Championships (including a century-aged challenger!), Hugh Hartford's quick film may be slightly too brief at 80 minutes, but it's certainly a refreshingly upbeat watch nonetheless.

STEVE GOW

Drama

Inch'Allah

Director. Anais Barbeau-Lavalette

Stars. Evelyne Brochu, Sabrina Ouazani

For those searching for answers to the Israel/Palestine crisis, don't expect Inch'Allah to bring much resolution. This sluggish-paced movie about a naive young Canadian doctor (brilliantly portrayed by Evelyne Brochu from Café de Flore) trying to bridge the disparate worlds between her Palestinian patients and Israeli checkpoint guard girlfriend may skirt politics for more harrowing humanist drama, but the neutral point of view clouds the film's convictions.

Twilight's mysterious Volturi provide plenty of spinoff potential. HANDOUT

Twilight's little piece of forever to get more time on the big screen?

Spinoff speculation. The last film in the series has hit theatres, and the Twilight team won't dismiss rumours of another installment

The thing about vampires is they live forever.

And so now that the blockbuster Twilight saga has unleashed its sprawling finale, it's only fitting that speculation runs rampant about a spinoff that could keep the franchise undead for a little while longer.

Vampire-playing cast mates Daniel Cudmore and Charlie Bewley sure don't mind stirring up rumours with their own suggestions of life after Breaking Dawn — Part 2, and not surprisingly it involves more adventures for their mysterious side characters.

"You do wonder what will happen once this is all said and done," says Bewley, who plays Demetri, a member of an ancient ruling clan known as the Volturi.

"(There are) lots of willing people ready to start new subsidiaries of this saga, so that's just down to Lionsgate/Summit, (author) Stephenie Meyer and whoever's in the reckoning."

Last weekend's blockbuster debut came with whispers of possible ways for the supernatural series to live on. Screenwriter Melissa Rosenberg stirred the pot last month with a Facebook poll asking which vampire clan should get a spinoff and stars Robert Pattinson and Taylor Lautner each said they'd be open to a followup. Meyer, meanwhile, has reportedly said she's got plenty of story ideas but dismissed notions anything solid is in the works.

There's no question that an off-shoot could flesh out a supernatural world that expanded greatly in Breaking Dawn — Part 2.

The story, however, centres on lovestruck teen Bella Swan, played by Kristen Stewart, and her new life as a powerful vampire. Here, she's settling into domestic life with her century-old sire and husband Edward Cullen, played by Pattinson, and their magical half-vampire daughter, Renesmee.

THE CANADIAN PRESS

Finally, critical praise

Twilight actor Charlie Bewley says it's gratifying to see the fifth Twilight film being embraced by solid critical reviews after earlier installments took widespread beatings. "It's not made for everyone," he says. "(But) it was made for the people who made the book series so cult and popular in the first place."

There's more than One Direction for a documentary filmmaker to take

Morgan Spurlock. Oscar-nominated filmmaker sparks discussion with his new boy-band based project

NED EHRBAR
Metro World News in Hollywood

Morgan Spurlock is embarking on a 3D film project with One Direction. GETTY IMAGES

Morgan Spurlock has gone from documenting fast food to fodder for boy band fans. GETTY IMAGES

Oscar-nominated documentary filmmaker Morgan Spurlock (Super Size Me) announced last week that he would be directing a 3D concert film about the hit British boy band One Direction for theatrical release next September, with American Idol and the X Factor mastermind Simon Cowell producing.

"This is an incredible opportunity and an amazing moment in time for the band," Spurlock says in a statement. "To capture this journey and share it with audiences around the world will be an epic undertaking that I am proud to be a part of."

What's perhaps most surprising about the news, though, is how often the project has been referred to as a documentary in the press. While the trend has been to incorporate more and more backstage and off-stage footage into concert films — as with last year's Justin Bieber film Never Say Never and Katy Perry's Part of Me earlier this year — do they really qualify as documentaries? Or does the label have to do more with Spurlock's involvement. We decided to check in with some experts.

"We have seen over time that the perceived definition of documentary film has radically changed. The one constant is that these films have continued to follow factual information about the subject they are documenting and that is important," Justin Krumb, director of the doc Minds in the Water, tells Metro. "So in the case of Spurlock's new project, I believe this a true documentary, in that sense of the word, but one that falls into a new subcategory that relates to the phenomenon of reality TV/celebrity power. What's missing that I'd love to see is how these films bring about social change. How they alter our feeling to go out and change the world in a positive way or call attention to an issue that needs to be addressed."

Some of Spurlock's colleagues are willing to wait and see how he fares with his new singing and dancing subjects before passing judgment. "I know a bit about the project and from what I understand I'm not sure it's a concert film at all," says Lucy Walker, an Oscar nominee herself for Waste Land and the Tsunami and the Cherry Blossom. "Why not let him explore all aspects of filmmaking and give him the benefit of the doubt until we've seen it?"

Sufjan Stevens, Diamond Rings, Barlow kick off the Christmas shopping season

Now that Black Friday is upon us, it's officially Christmas season. Tired of the same old holiday tracks? Then try these. But be careful.

Want to hear these tunes? Visit metronews.ca/scene to listen to Alan Cross's selections.

Mr. Frosty Man/Sufjan Stevens

Indie darling Sufjan Stevens spends an unhealthy amount of time writing Christmas songs. Mr. Frosty Man features a Claymation video that involves a rampaging snowman and, er, zombies.

Christmas in a Chinese Restaurant/ Diamond Rings

Not to be confused with the Canadian singer of the same name. This is a temporary group featuring members of Black Lips, Los Lobos and Deer Tick. It's sad.

Christmas at the Donut Shop/ Barlow

Based on a true story of being stranded because of bad weather on Christmas Eve at a doughnut shop in Quebec. It should be sad, but it isn't.

Jimi Hendrix's new experience

A new Jimi Hendrix album is coming March 5.

The musician's website says People, Hell and Angels contains 12 previously unreleased tracks recorded in 1968 and '69.

Rolling Stone revealed the album cover on its website Wednesday.

Hendrix recorded the songs apart from the Jimi Hendrix Experience as he considered new, experimental directions for his followup to Electric Ladyland.

He plays keyboards, percussion and a second guitar on the album.

OUR TAKE ON THE WORLD OF CELEBRITIES

Mayim Bialik

Big Bang's Mayim Bialik announces divorce from Michael Stone

Mayim Bialik and husband Michael Stone are divorcing after nine years of marriage and two children, the actress announced in a blog post on parenting site Kveller this week. "After much consideration and soul-searching, Michael and I have arrived at the decision to divorce due to 'irreconcilable differences,'" the Blossom and Big Bang Theory star writes. "Divorce is terribly sad, painful and incomprehensible for children. It is not something we have decided lightly."

Bieber and Gomez trying to iron out kinks in relationship

THE WORD
Dorothy Robinson
scene@metronews.ca

Justin Bieber and Selena Gomez are actually back together and trying desperately to make their relationship work amid all the public scrutiny, a source close to the pair tells Radar Online. "The problem between them stemmed from Justin texting other girls," the source explains. "Selena is embarrassed by what he did because it makes her look stupid, that he would talk to these other girls, and she is also embarrassed that everyone is so invested in their relationship now because of his actions." And as for their dinner date in L.A. last week that ended with Gomez storming out? "There was no blow-up," the source says. "Selena is just super-embarrassed by all of this attention, and she got upset when they sat down and people were staring and pulling out their cellphones."

Taylor Swift ALL PHOTOS GETTY

Swift signs of affection for Taylor and One Direction's Harry Styles

As rumours emerge that Taylor Swift and One Direction member Harry Styles are dating, new details are coming out about their flirt-filled meeting at an X Factor rehearsal earlier this month. "They lit up when they saw each other," a source tells Us Weekly, adding that the pair spent most of the day together and that Swift "was a puppy dog" with Styles. And after being spotted walking hand-in-hand on set, the boy band star opted for a dramatic exit: "Harry picked her up and carried her to the trailer," the source says.

Emma Stone

Emma Stone 'has a sex tape and that's a fact'

Amazing Spider-Man star Emma Stone could be the latest Hollywood starlet to be haunted by her home-movie past, if Radar Online's report is correct. "Emma Stone has a sex tape and that's a fact," a source tells the website. "She made it long before she started dating Andrew Garfield and before she became a household name. She was just young and probably thought nothing would ever come of it." Luckily for Stone, no efforts have been made to shop the tape around — yet. "The tape remains in the hands of the person she made it with," the source explains. "But that doesn't mean there's any guarantee that it won't eventually hit the market. The higher Emma's star rises, the more valuable that tape becomes."

MIKE YAWNEY
For Metro

Get in touch with your creative side this holiday season with a brand new camera.

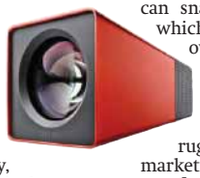
Whether you are planning on simply updating your Facebook profile picture or blackmailing the neighbour with some racy photos, there's a camera out there to suit everyone's needs. Take a look at these fun photo gift ideas.

Panasonic Lumix DMC-ZS20 — $349

Nikon D7000 (body only) — $849

This 16.2-megapixel DSLR camera is ideal for the professional photographer on your list. With a 0.13-second startup and 50ms shutter lag, this powerhouse is ready to go when you are. The D7000 is capable of shooting six frames per second for up to 100 shots, and can be used to record full 1080p video with auto-focus. Remember, lenses cost extra.

Panasonic Lumix DMC-ZS20 — $349



A user-friendly entry level camera with incredible zoom capabilities. Despite its shallow body, this 14-megapixel camera comes equipped with a wide-angle 20X optical zoom lens. Seventeen scene modes ensure you get the best picture under any lighting condition, while semi-manual and manual modes are there for those who like to tinker. If you are feeling really creative you can snap 3-D photos, which can be fun if you own a 3-D TV.

Olympus Tough TG-1 iHS — $399

It's one of the most rugged cameras on the market. Shockproof, freezeproof, dust-proof; you can take photos in the most extreme conditions, even 40 feet underwater. Tired of shooting still photos? Turn this 12-megapixel camera into a camcorder and shoot 1080p HD video. The camera is also equipped with GPS, so location and landmark information will be recorded with every image you snap.

Lytro — $399.99

The Lytro camera lets you create living pictures you can explore. This unique looking camera records the entire light field so you can refocus a picture even after it has been taken. Post a picture online and watch as your friends explore your photos by changing the focal point. There's no other camera like it.

Epson Stylus Pro 3880 Inkjet Printer — $1,020

Print extravagant photos right at home. This high-end printer from Epson uses pigment ink for vivid, bold colours. Print on simple photo paper or take your projects to the next level by printing on a variety of specialty papers including fibre paper, art boards and even canvas. This printer also has the ability to print large 17x22-inch images.

iPhone Shutter Remote — $40

Take photos on your iPhone from up to 30 feet away. This neat little remote controls your smartphone via Bluetooth so you will never miss being in a picture ever again. Works with iPod Touch, iPad, and even the new iPhone 5.

Jelly Camera Phone Filters — $15

These tiny key-chain sized lenses add cool effects to the photos you snap on your smartphone. Choose from starburst, kaleidoscope or wide angle. Each lens sticks to your phone with a gummy ring, which is reusable. They also come with keychain loops so you can hook them onto practically anything.

Clockwise, from right, iPhone Shutter Remote — $40, Lytro — $399.99, Epson Stylus Pro 3880 Inkjet Printer — $1,020, Jelly Camera Phone Filters — $15.

Grrreat gifts for Fido and Mittens

Furry friends. Your best pal deserves a holiday treat too

YLVA VAN BUUREN
For Metro

Celebrate the season by wrapping up something nice for your four-legged friends. Here are lots of great ideas.

Give to Animals in Need — Fido will Approve

Giving time or money to a shelter or another worthy animal cause is a wonderful gift. Contact pet shelters near you or make a donation to an animal charity. Here are a few ideas: The World Society for the Protection of Animals (wspa.ca); Canadian Dachshund Rescue (weinerdogrescue.com); The Humane Society of Canada (humanesociety.com).

Homemade You Say

Pet Network show producer Jen Mitchell Oddi provides this recipe for yummy Elvis Dog Treats that features what else but peanut butter and banana, which the King himself loved (see the recipe box on this page.) For the favourite pooch in your life, wrap up half a dozen and put them under the tree on Christmas morning. Find more recipes at her blog, mydogsbreakfast.com.

'Catch The Mouse' Cat Game

Turn your iPad into a cat toy? While it sounds a little crazy, it's actually great fun for cats and their owners.

This game features a cute little orange mouse that runs around the screen. There are sound effects (the mouse squeaks) and if you don't like an orange mouse on black, change the colour of the background or the mouse. The app costs 99 cents at itunes.apple.com/ca/app/catch-the-mouse-cat-game/id423287711?mt=8

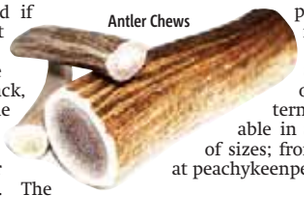
These are Peachy Keen!

Want a special snowman collar for your cat or a Grinch harness for your pug? Peachy Keen Pets collars, harnesses, leashes and accessories are custom-made with soft cotton fabric on both sides to prevent chafing. They're machine washable and adjustable for dogs, cats and even pet pigs and rabbits. Holiday and many other patterns are available in a full range of sizes; from $8 to $56 at peachykeenpets.com.



Light Up Your Dog's Life

Keep your dog safe — and stylish — at night with a collar that lights up! Head-Lites premium LED dog collars are made in Canada in a variety of sizes, colours and patterns. $44 online at head-lites.com or backtothebone.ca in Burlington, Ont.

Antler Chews — Don't Tell Rudolph

Antler Chews (yup, these are 100 per cent naturally shed antler pieces) for dogs are great — they don't splinter or chip, and there's no scent, mush or carpet stains. They're a source of protein, calcium and other nutrients, and they're easy on sensitive tummies. Priced from $9.99 to $34.99. Visit thisandthatcanineco.com for a list of retailers.

Crinkle — Your Cat Will Love It!

Made in Canada, this light, soft and durable toy makes a crinkle noise that cats can't resist. Cats can learn to fetch the toy or may just choose to keep it close by. The Original Crinkle Toy costs $2.29 and is available in most independent pet stores as well as Pet Valu, Global Pet Foods, P.J's Pet, and Super Pet.

Fun and Floss

Help your dog keep its teeth healthy with the Fun n Floss dental rope toy. Chewing on the toy actually flosses and cleans teeth. In different sizes, it costs $5.99 - $7.99 and is available at most independent pet stores, Pet Valu, Global Pet Foods, PJ's Pets and Super Pet.

Elvis Dog Treats

INGREDIENTS:

- 1 banana
- ¾ cup peanut butter
- 1 cup water
- 1 tsp baking powder
- 4 cups rye or whole wheat flour

INSTRUCTIONS:

- Mush the banana in a large mixing bowl. Add peanut butter and water, and mix well.
- Add baking powder and flour, a bit at a time, mixing until combined. If dough is still a bit wet, add flour until your fingers don't stick to it.
- Knead until you have a smooth ball. Roll in parchment or plastic wrap and cool in fridge for 30 minutes.
- Preheat oven to 350 degrees and line baking sheet with parchment paper.
- Roll dough out onto a lightly floured surface to 1/8th - ¼ inch thick. Cut into squares (or use a dog bone cookie cutter) and bake for 20 minutes.
- These treats keep for three to five days in the fridge or you can freeze them.

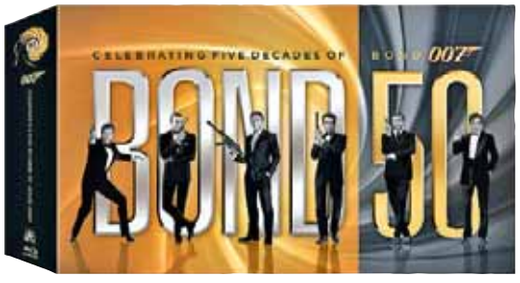
DVDs, Blu-rays and box sets — Oh my!

KEITH CARMAN
For Metro

Whether it's for that special someone or to round out your own collection, Blu-rays and DVDs are always a wise choice come holiday season. Let's face it: Who's about to pass on hours of entertainment from the comfort of the family sofa?

At that, there are a multitude of films, documentaries and television series releases at this time of year. A few options:

Dark Knight Rises (Warner Home Video)
Eight years after his last tussle with The Joker, we find Batman up against a new nemesis. Garnering plenty of acclaim, this action flick's home video release finds the Blu-ray treated to a 1080p transfer with 5.1 DTS-HD Master Audio, an hour's worth of IMAX footage and more. The DVD will feature an anamorphic widescreen presentation, 5.1 Dolby Digital audio, an UltraViolet copy of the film and The Journey of Bruce Wayne featurette.



Ted (Universal)
Easily one of the year's more surprising — if not altogether shocking — movies, Family Guy creator Seth MacFarlane's Ted focuses on a "foul-mouthed, hard-partying teddy bear and his 35-year-old best friend." Starring the likes of Mark Wahlberg, Mila Kunis and Giovanni Ribisi, it's no wonder Ted was No. 1 at the box office. Combining the Blu-ray, DVD, digital and UltraViolet versions along with extras such as a gag reel, deleted scenes, making-of featurettes, a commentary and more, it might be raunchy but it's quite rousing.

Seeking A Friend For The End Of The World (Focus Features)
A touch oddball but entirely endearing, this rom-com starring Steve Carell and Keira Knightley is a perfect reason to pull that loved one closer. Realizing he is alone at the end of the world, Carell searches out his estranged wife with the assistance of a neighbour. Interestingly, her good intentions turn into a rather large monkey wrench.

Bond 50: Celebrating Five Decades of James Bond (MGM)
For the truly dedicated fan, this bold Blu-ray collection showcases 007 from start to current: a collectible box featuring all 22 James Bond films. Not enough? Well, it also boasts more than 130 hours of bonus features including never-before-seen content from the Bond archives.

Doctor Who Series 7, Part 1 (Warner)
In keeping with the U.K. do-gooder theme, time-travelling intellectual Doctor Who sees the first instalment of Series 7 hit shelves in both Blu-ray and DVD. Packed with five gripping episodes, this era in the lengthy franchise is lauded as one of its best.

The Simpsons Season 15 (20th Century Fox Home Entertainment)
Need something a little lighter on the brain but no less entertaining? The family known to every corner of the globe issues its 15th season just in time for, well, wasting time. Initially airing circa 2003, this release is packed with 22 episodes over four discs and a plethora of extras including deleted scenes, featurettes and Blu-ray-only extra episodes.

ParaNorman (Alliance)
In this animated feature, a small town is overrun with zombies. It's up to geeky local boy Norman to save everyone. Able to converse with the dead, it's his task to eliminate the hordes of ghosts, witches and the like. Packed with a Blu-ray, DVD and Digital copy — all relayed in 3-D — it's a fun flick for the whole family.

Much cooler than an MP3 gift card

KEITH CARMAN
For Metro

Downloading is clearly a fast and easy means of garnering the latest, greatest pieces of aural majesty.

Still, when it comes to festive times, no credit card-sized gift certificate offering musical megabytes comes close to stuffing a stocking or stirring excitement quite like a tangible CD or box set. It's with this means of piling up presents under the tree that we offer some suggestions for sating melodic enthusiasts.

For most people, folk rock tends to be a rather safe bet and who better to place odds on than Canucks Great Big Sea? Issuing their XX (Warner) box set just in time for the holidays, the package showcases two albums (Rogue Waves and CBC Key Note) as well as the Meet Great Big Sea DVD, 104-page bound book, calendar, two posters, two lyric sheets, postcard, souvenir laminates and stickers.

For a little more twang, country folk fans might appreciate Toby Keith's latest Hope On The Rocks (Universal). To go the extra mile, try the deluxe edition featuring remixes and live versions of tracks. Overall, it's an album the artist himself wryly described to Billboard Magazine as "the same stuff I usually do." Now there's a sales point.

Tipping one's hat to the essence of soul, chanteuse Bettye LaVette's latest work Thankful N' Thoughtful (ANTI) has kicked up plenty of smoke in its mere two-plus months on the shelves. Then again, with 50 years in the business, LaVette knows her away around a solid tune.

Some other gents with their own aesthetic marvel and lengthy time belting out blues-fuelled ditties, ZZ Top issue their first full-length in nine years. Dubbed La Futura (American), it's packed with that self-proclaimed "Little Ol' Band From Texas" at its finest.

Neil Young

Speaking of finest, national treasure Neil Young assembles his beloved Crazy Horse crew for Psychedelic Pill (Warner), their first onslaught of warble-throated originals in a full-on decade. With nine tracks clocking in at 85 minutes, it's sure to satisfy even the most diehard Young freak.

For something far more up-beat, consider positively charged anthemic rock vocalist Andrew W.K.'s 10th anniversary edition of legendary debut I Get Wet (Century Media). Available in three versions, its features range from a simple double CD to two-album gatefold LP boasting bonus tracks and 20-page full-colour booklet. For devout fans, there's even a 500-copy limited collectors edition replete with autographed booklet and either a lock of W.K.'s hair, a piece of his signature white jeans or an autographed plane ticket from his 2012 world tour.

Those looking to tide over the more anodized music fans on their gift lists would do well to check out metallions As I Lay Dying's sixth studio effort Awakened (Metal Blade) as an option. Peaking at No. 11 on the Billboard charts, it clearly hasn't steered many headbangers wrong.

Finally, as the lines between punk rock and heavy metal become further blurred, hardcore mainstays Converge shatter all previous expectations via latest Epitaph Records release All We Love We Leave Behind. Thick, pummelling and vicious, it's the perfect onslaught of barbed brawn for any brawny music buff.

Gifts made in the kitchen

From the heart. Cinnamon Cookie Ornaments will be remembered for long after the holidays

KAREN HUMPHREY
YummyMummyClub.ca

There's something about Christmas that brings out my inner craft maven. Whenever the holidays roll around, I break out the glue gun or begin looking for something to create in my kitchen and share with people.

No matter how small or simple, it's always the gifts from the heart that I have treasured most. You can involve the kids and give them a sense of ownership over their gift giving by setting aside an afternoon and baking up some cookie ornaments for a friend.

Include a card and tie with a pretty ribbon — you have a gift to remember for long after the holiday ends.

Cinnamon Cookie Ornaments

These ornaments have been a favourite in our house for years, and if handled carefully, can last for a very long time. These are best for older teens to help you make, as they are pretty fragile.

Ingredients:

- 1 cup cinnamon
- ¾ cup applesauce
- ¼ cup white glue
- a glue gun
- drinking straw
- pompoms, buttons, puffy textured paint, ribbon

Instructions:

Mix the ingredients together to form dough. Turn out onto a cinnamon dusted surface and knead, then roll out to about ¼- to ½-inch thickness.

Cut with cookie cutters. I allowed mine to dry on wire baking cooling racks for a few days. To put a hole in the top, just cut one by pressing the straw through the dough in the desired spot.

If you choose to let them dry on a metal rack, the underside might be "stained" from the metal.

When they are fully dried, decorate by using a hot glue gun to attach small pompoms or ribbon, and try puffy textured paint-like icing for noses and eyes.

Gingerbread man shapes really work well with this because they look like real cookies and then smell nice, too.

NOTE: These are fairly fragile decorations, and if dropped or handled roughly they will break, much like cookies.

This year, don't blow the holiday budget

Shopping. Helpful tips so you won't break the bank when out searching for gifts

YLVA VAN BUUREN
For Metro

Here are 10 ways we blow our budgets, and tips on how to avoid it.

Devise a plan before you go holiday shopping so you won't go over budget. ISTOCKPHOTO/THINKSTOCK

Budget? What budget?

The holidays are fun but can be expensive too, says Mike Henry, Scotiabank's senior vice-president of retail payments, deposits and lending. "Plan ahead for the extra spending by budgeting a certain amount." Decide who you're going to buy for and how much you can spend.

Budget for gifts only

Don't forget to include entertaining and other holiday expenses such as outside lights, postage costs and wrapping paper in your budget.

Guess that everyone will love the gift you choose

Research ahead of time (ask friends and family) so that you have a good idea of what each person might like. When you're at a complete loss, gift cards are great, says Cathie Mostowyk, president, Shoestring Shopping Guide.

Worry about having to buy for everyone

Consider exchanging names in your family so you are buying one great gift rather than several. Or go in together as a group to buy a large item for someone.

Wander around a mall for ideas

That's usually a waste of time, says Mostowyk. Research gift ideas and stores so you know what to buy ahead of time.

Bring kids when you shop

Shop by yourself so you stay focused. Leave the coat in the car and take a bottle of water, says Mostowyk.

Buy all the gifts you give

Get creative, says Stephanie Holmes-Winton, CEO of themoneyfinder.ca and a member of Advocis, the Financial Advisors Association of Canada. Wrap up all the ingredients for Christmas cookies along with the recipe. Or make the cookies yourself and wrap them up for a ready-to-eat treat.

Did you know?

- A lot of women try to give what they think is proportionate to how much they love somebody, says Stephanie Holmes-Winton, but you can't always afford that.
- Research shows that Canadians on average will spend about $300 per month on unplanned spending, says Mike Henry. Have a holiday fund and stick to it.

Charge everything

Holmes-Winton suggests some people might do better to withdraw the cash they have budgeted for the holidays because "you pay more attention when you are handing over real money." If that's not realistic, create a separate account for holiday spending.

Save points for another time

Using debit and credit cards that can earn rewards and stretch your dollar is a great way to get the most out of shopping, says Henry. "You might even be able to use points you've built up through the year on gift cards, travel or merchandise."

Figure you will sort it out in January

Keep track of spending throughout the holidays with online or mobile banking, says Henry. Talk to your bank about services such as Scotiabank's InfoAlert, which alerts customers by text or email when their balance goes below a certain amount.

Maple Bacon Butter Pizza: Foodie touchdown

Grey Cup snacks. This delicious pizza has the perfect Canadian touch for the big game

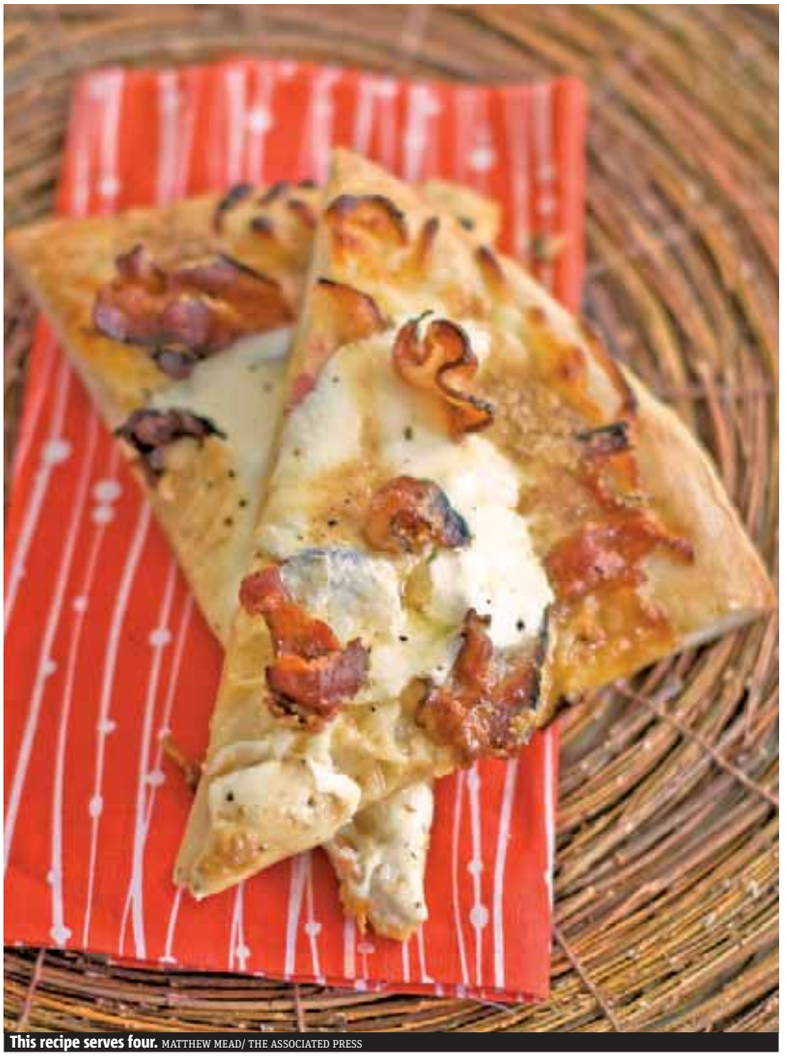
Predictably, the Internet abounds with recipes for pizza made with maple-cured bacon. But to truly take it to the next level — and make it uniquely Canadian — maple syrup is involved, as is an ample helping of butter to keep things interesting.

The result is this Maple Bacon Butter Pizza, which is refreshingly simple. A basic crust topped first with mozzarella, then cooked bacon, then more mozzarella and finally dollops of maple compound butter (made by blending softened butter with granulated maple sugar) is all it takes.

1. Heat the oven to 500 F. Lightly coat a baking sheet with cooking spray.

2. In a small bowl, mix together the butter and maple sugar until well blended. Set aside.

3. On a lightly floured surface, carefully roll out the pizza dough to about a 14-inch circle. You may need to use your hands to stretch the dough if rolling alone doesn't work. Transfer the dough to the prepared baking sheet.



This recipe serves four. MATTHEW MEAD/ THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ingredients

- 3 tbsp butter, softened
- 3 tbsp granulated maple sugar
- 20-oz ball prepared pizza dough, room temperature
- 1 cup grated mozzarella cheese
- 12 oz bacon, cooked and crumbled
- 8-oz ball fresh mozzarella, sliced

4. Sprinkle the grated mozzarella cheese evenly over the dough. Top the mozzarella with the bacon, distributing it evenly over the pizza. Arrange the slices of fresh mozzarella over the bacon. Using 2 spoons, scoop and dollop the maple sugar butter evenly over the pizza. The dollops do not need to be spread; they will melt in the oven.

5. Bake for 12 to 15 minutes, or until the crust is puffed and browned and the cheese at the centre of the pizza is lightly browned. Let the pizza rest for 5 minutes before slicing. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LIQUID ASSETS

Time sure flies when you're sniffing, sipping and spitting (well, mostly) to please readers. I should know. This is my 200th Liquid Assets column for Metro.

I'm not the only one acknowledging a major milestone this weekend. On Sunday, The Grey Cup is raising a glass in celebration of a century of guys tossing a football back and forth.

I admit I don't know much about the game. What I do know is whisky, and the anniversary-inspired Gibson's Finest 100th Grey Cup Limited Edition ($29.95 to $33.29) will put an all-Canadian flavour profile (along with a touch of maple goodness) into your glass.

After a few failed attempts to infuse established whiskies from its portfolio with the sweet stuff, Gibson's official Malt Master created a special blend that includes maple syrup as part of the recipe.

The finished spirit is relaxed and soothing with a soft, smoky aroma that releases hints of tropical fruits and caramel. In the mouth, a rich expression of malt is massaged by an undercurrent of vanilla and just a whisper of maple sugar that makes it an ideal whisky to sip on while watching the big game. PRICES REFLECT THE RANGE ACROSS THE COUNTRY. Sloppy brisket heaven

1. Season brisket on all sides with salt and pepper. In pressure cooker over medium-high, heat oil. When oil is hot, add brisket and sear 3 minutes per side, or until well browned.

2. In bowl, whisk water, tomato sauce, ketchup, brown sugar, apricot preserves, vinegar, cumin, mustard powder, paprika and garlic powder. Once brisket is totally seared, add tomato sauce mixture to the pressure cooker. Move brisket pieces around to ensure liquid is both under and over them.

Ingredients

- 4-lb brisket, trimmed of fat, cut into 3 or 4 pieces
- Kosher salt and black pepper
- 2 tbsp canola or vegetable oil
- 2 cups water
- 15-oz can tomato sauce
- 1/2 cup ketchup
- 1/2 cup packed brown sugar
- 1/2 cup apricot preserves
- 1/4 cup cider vinegar
- 1 tsp each cumin, mustard powder, smoked paprika, garlic powder
- slider buns

3. Attach cover of pressure cooker and seal according to manufacturer directions. Bring to pressure, then adjust temperature to maintain medium-high pressure. Cook 1 1/2 hours.

4. Remove pressure cooker from heat and place in sink under cool running water. Once pressure cooker cools enough to open, do so and test the meat. It should be fork tender.

This recipe serves 10. MATTHEW MEAD/ THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

5. Carefully transfer meat to platter and use 2 forks to gently pull it apart into bite-size chunks.

6. Meanwhile, return cooker to heat and simmer, uncovered, until liquid has reduced and thickened. Return shredded brisket to cooker and toss well. Serve with slider buns.

Just Opened: Retsina

The city's starting to get more and more gourmet Greek ... and it's away from the Danforth. We're not complaining. Retsina recently opened its doors at 209 Gerrard Street E., and is serving up a mix of classic Greek with gourmet twists and contemporary Mediterranean with classic techniques. (That's a mouthful.) The room is lovely and the food worthy of the Gods.

Just Opened: Rashers

Bacon lovers take note: Rashers Bacon Sandwich Shop recently opened up in Leslieville, serving, well, bacon sandwiches. They're totally gourmet, though! Located at 948 Queen Street E., Rashers seats but a few, yet makes amazing bacon sammies like the classic Hogtown with peameal bacon or the Wild Boar bacon on baguette.

Just Opened: The Titled Kilt

This one's more for the fellas to say the least. The Tilted Kilt just opened up at 38 The Esplanade, bringing its trademark Scottish... er... charm along for the ride. (Note: Its very attractive female servers leave very little to the imagination.) The Tilted Kilt serves Scottish/Irish/British pub faves and more than 50 different beers alongside its eye candy.

Just Opened: JOEY Yorkdale

North West Torontonians rejoice! You now have a JOEY Restaurant to call your own, and it's neatly tucked in Yorkdale Mall. As part of Yorkdale's swaggeriffic expansion, JOEY Yorkdale features a modern industrial design concept, a cocktail lounge, upstairs dining area and the same globally inspired cuisine you've come to love from this chain.

Just Opened: Archive

Found at 909 Dundas Street W., Archive Wine Bar is a civilized little spot that has one heck of a decent wine list — with many cultivated here in Ontario — and most wines available by the glass. CFL awards

Owens named most outstanding

The Flyin' Hawaiian is the CFL's most outstanding player.

Versatile Chad Owens of the Toronto Argonauts claimed the honour Thursday night at the league's awards banquet. The 30-year-old native of Hawaii got the nod ahead of Calgary Stampeders running back Jon Cornish in voting conducted by the Football Reporters of Canada as well as the eight CFL head coaches.

The 2012 season has been a magical one for both Owens and the Argos.

Owens led the CFL in receiving (94 catches for 1,328 yards and six TDs) and return yards (2,510) and accumulated a league-record 3,863 all-purpose yards. Owens, affectionately dubbed the Flyin' Hawaiian, is a big reason why Toronto is making its first Grey Cup appearance since '04.

Thursday's other award winners were:

- Defensive player — J.C. Sherritt, LB, Edmonton.
- Special teams — Chris Williams, KR/WR, Hamilton.
- Canadian player — Jon Cornish, RB, Calgary.
- Offensive lineman — Jovan Olafioye, OL, B.C.
- Rookie — Chris Matthews, WR, Winnipeg.

Rookie coach leads Argos by example

Captain of the ship.
Milanovich proving you can be calm, polite, respectful in his position

As his Toronto Argonauts filtered into a hotel restaurant for a media breakfast, Scott Milanovich was already hard at work.

Sitting in a nearby chair, the tall Toronto coach was absorbed in his notes. The more time the better to plot the downfall of the Calgary Stampeders in Sunday's Grey Cup.

Milanovich had already warned his players there was work to do after meeting their media responsibilities.

"The first thing I hear him say was, 'All right, we need to get back and work on our first-down install,'" running back Chad Kackert said. "He's really focused on the task at hand."

The 39-year-old rookie head coach, who also directs the Argos offence, comes across as calm, professional and very, very thorough.

At Wednesday's coaches' news conference, Milanovich was unfailingly polite and showed John Hufnagel, his 61-year-old Calgary counterpart, nothing but respect — referring to him throughout as Coach Hufnagel or Coach Huf.

He even prompted Hufnagel, who has hearing problems, by repeating questions as needed.

Milanovich, who has won two Grey Cups as an assistant coach with the Montreal Alouettes, also showed a dry sense of humour and was self-deprecating, saying the Argos' Grey Cup march was not about him.

"My name being on that cup is not important to me. I have two (championship) rings. I also lost one to this gentleman sitting next to me," he said, referring to Hufnagel and the 2008 Grey Cup when Calgary beat Montreal 22-14.

"What is important to me is for our players' names to be on there. This is about them, this has never been about me."

Milanovich says Toronto's championship quest is also about general manager Jim Barker, the community, the organization and growing the Argo brand. "I'm just fortunate and thankful that they gave me the opportunity to be a part of this," he added.

CFL a reflection of Canada's culture: Cohon

CFL commissioner Mark Cohon applauds as former Ottawa Rough Rider and three-time Grey Cup champion quarterback Russ Jackson carries the Grey Cup in the House of Commons on Oct. 24 in Ottawa.
SEAN KILPATRICK/THE CANADIAN PRESS

From the country's east-west divide to the way we define ourselves as different from the United States, when Canadians look at the culture of the CFL, it's just like looking in a mirror.

For example, Canada's history as a country shaped by immigration is shown in the stories of athletes who came here to play, CFL commissioner Mark Cohon said. "That's the story of Chuck Ealey, one of the best black quarterbacks in NCAA who wasn't drafted to the NFL because of the colour of his skin. He came to Canada and won a Grey Cup with the Tiger-Cats."

Regional divisions and rivalries are true in life and in CFL fandom.

"When you talk about Canada, you talk about the competition between the Western provinces and Ontario, the central provinces. Toronto is the natural city that people across the country want to hate," said Cohon.

The decision to host the 100th Grey Cup game in Toronto was partially a bid to grow the comparatively lacklustre enthusiasm for the game in Ontario, he said.

It won't just be Argos fans at the Rogers Centre on Sunday, and that's the most important thing, said Cohon.

"One of the beauties of the Grey Cup is the people in the stadium all wearing different jerseys. Their affinity is to different teams, but they all get along — and that a reflection of the country as well," he said. JESSICA SMITH/METRO

About face. Mean muggin' for Grey Cup

Professional face and body painter Natasha Kudashkina offers tips on how to paint the Argos or Stampeders logo on your face for game day.

Face paint can come from a dollar store or professional makeup store, but it's best to use soft synthetic brushes and have a medium- and small-sized brush on hand. Painting on cosmetic makeup is fine, but otherwise the face should be clean without sweat, grease or stubble, says Kudashkina.

She cautions that both designs are difficult, so it's best to keep a printout of the logo in front of you as a guide and use a Q-tip soaked in makeup remover to erase mistakes.

For detailed steps on painting the two teams' logos, go to metronews.ca.

Calgary at Toronto, Sunday, 6:30 p.m. (TSN)
It should be no surprise that in a quarterback-driven league, the biggest story heading into the 100th Grey Cup game on Sunday is the remarkable twists of fate experienced by the two starting passers.

Calgary's Kevin Glenn and Toronto's Ricky Ray couldn't have imagined their current status a year ago.

Last November, Glenn, entrenched as the starter in Hamilton, had just led his Ticats to a triumph over Montreal and into the East final. Ray, seemingly untouchable as a legend in Edmonton, was expected to play out his career as an Eskimo. Fast-forward to today and Glenn has emerged as the Stampeders' surprising playoff leader and hero heading into the Grey Cup Sunday at Rogers Centre in Toronto. Ray, swapped by then-Esks GM Eric Tillman for little more than a handful of magic beans, is suddenly tasked with leading the Argos in their first "home" Grey Cup in 20 years.

The trade was so one-sided, some CFL followers still believe the Ray transaction was orchestrated by the league to help the Argos compete for the centennial Grey Cup at home. Conspiracy theorists also suggest the trade was made to appease Argos owner David Braley, who also holds the purse strings in Vancouver and may have saved both teams (and the league) from extinction.

Ray is also expected to stoke the dying embers of CFL enthusiasm in Toronto, where the fan base would apparently prefer to attend a Buffalo Bills pre-season game than cheer on the Argos, North America's oldest football franchise.

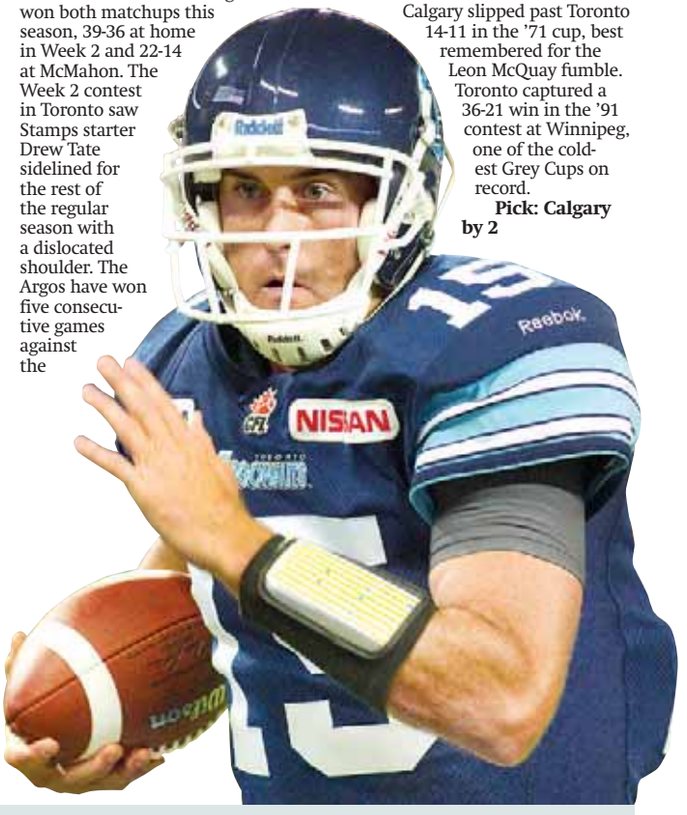
While Ray is a former Grey Cup champ as an Eskimo, Glenn's closest brush with the title occurred in the 2007 East final. Despite winning the game, Glenn suffered a broken arm and was sidelined for the championship game.

No matter who wins Sunday, the 2012 Grey Cup champs will be led by a quarterback whose story will dominate the headlines Monday morning.

Season series: The Argos won both matchups this season, 39-36 at home in Week 2 and 22-14 at McMahon. The Week 2 contest in Toronto saw Stamps starter Drew Tate sidelined for the rest of the regular season with a dislocated shoulder. The Argos have won five consecutive games against the Stamps dating back to 2010.

Grey Cup history: This will mark the third Grey Cup meeting between the two franchises. Calgary slipped past Toronto 14-11 in the '71 cup, best remembered for the Leon McQuay fumble. Toronto captured a 36-21 win in the '91 contest at Winnipeg, one of the coldest Grey Cups on record.

Pick: Calgary by 2



ARGONAUTS

MIKE SPEERS
Metro in Toronto

When the Toronto Argonauts and Calgary Stampeders run out onto the field at Rogers Centre this Sunday, they will not only be playing for themselves, but for the cities they represent. Unfortunately for Stampeders fans, only one of those cities can actually be called "world class."

Toronto is, as we all know, the centre of the universe, which means its football team must be the centre of the CFL universe. And as we get set for the 100th Grey Cup, and take a look at the history of this great league, is there any doubt who the great Canadian team is?

Argooooooooooooos!

Now I know the Argos only finished the regular season with a 9-9 record. But all that matters are the two wins over the Stamps this year.

Ricky Ray has been outstanding this post-season, looking like the quarterback Toronto was hoping for when they practically stole him from Edmonton. But the real difference-maker will likely be Toronto's Chad Owens.

He set a pro-football record with his 3,863 all-purpose yards this season, and will be awesome on Sunday

Any fan who thinks Calgary has a chance on Sunday must have their cowboy hat on too tight.

CHOOSE YOUR SIDE: CITY VS. CITY

STAMPEDERS

WARREN SMITH
Metro in Calgary

Do most Torontonians even know they are hosting the 100th Grey Cup?

As we all know, residents of the Big Smoke barely care about the CFL, as they are obsessed with the pipe dream of one day landing an NFL team.

My question is: Why is the 100th Grey Cup even in Toronto? Any CFL city would have been better, because every other CFL city has more fans.

But let's talk football.

Who's going to win? The reality is, it will be a close game.

Calgary was 12-4 during the regular season and lost both games to Toronto, while Toronto was 9-9.

Toronto has Chad Owens and Calgary has Jon Cornish, both of whom have had spectacular years.

Both offences can move the ball and both defences can stop the ball.

They really are evenly matched teams. The game will likely come down to coaching — Scott Milanovich vs. John Hufnagel.

And, as Hufnagel said back in 2008: "Men, we've got them right were we want them!"

I'll put my money on the Stamps.

Decorated college quarterback found proving ground in Canada

Chuck Ealey. Facing discrimination in U.S., he turned to CFL to continue as a lead pivot

JESSICA SMITH
jessica.smith@metronews.ca

At the time, Chuck Ealey didn't realize his decision to come to Canada to play football would become a great moment in CFL and Canadian history.

In 1971, Ealey graduated from the University of Toledo in Ohio as an undefeated quarterback after leading the Rockets to 35 straight wins — a record that has not been surpassed.

At the time, the NFL had black athletes who occasionally played as quarterbacks, but the teams generally pushed black college QBs into other positions.

"They just didn't think African-American quarterbacks were qualified to mentally run a team," Ealey said. "Even with the kind of record I had as a quarterback, they wanted me to come as a defensive back and wide receiver. I wasn't prepared to do that, and that's what brought me to Canada."

Hamilton was only a four-hour drive from Toledo, but was very different in some ways, he says.

"The lifestyle was good. It was very safe, it was very much a different environment than what I grew up in," he said. "It was an opportunity to raise my kids here and be comfortable and safe in a country that respected me for what I was and what I could do, without the social issues from when I was growing up."

Ealey still in lives in Ontario and works in Mississauga as a regional director with Investors Group. He says he has no regrets over what might have been — a career in the larger, higher-profile, higher-paying NFL.

"It was never an issue, comparing the two leagues in size and scope. It was just an opportunity to carry on my ability to play football for a few more years," he said.

His daughter, Jael Ealey Richardson, recently published a memoir about her father's life and what she's learned from it called The Stone Thrower, which has been turned into a TSN movie to mark the 100th Grey Cup. The book and the movie tell the story of Ealey growing up in the projects of Portsmouth, Ohio, learning to throw a football by throwing rocks at passing trains that separated black and white neighbourhoods.

Success story

As a rookie, Ealey won the Grey Cup with the Tiger-Cats in 1972 — the first for a black CFL quarterback. He was named MVP that year and went on to play six more years with the Tiger-Cats, Argonauts and Blue Bombers.

Chuck Ealey spent seven years in the CFL. He came in as a rookie QB in 1972 for the Hamilton Tiger-Cats and won a Grey Cup. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE FILE

"I didn't have a lot of chance to throw the ball, and I said, 'I want to get better at this, so how do I do it?' Nobody else was here to practise," he says in the documentary. "On each of the trains there was a Norfolk and Western N and W, and I'd try to hit the N or I'd try to hit the W, whichever was my target."

'Secret is in the sauce' for the best wings in Toronto

Toronto's Bistro on Avenue — one of Louis Nemes' three chicken-wing eateries — may just serve the best wings in the city. Patrons rave about the North Toronto-area restaurant's chicken-wing dish on online forums. They describe tender, moist wings that are perfectly spiced, and the bonus creamy dill dipping sauce that comes with them is a big hit.

While the recipe is confidential and cannot be released in full, Cindy Stern, the restaurant's spokesperson, gave away some details about what makes the bistro's wings so special.

Louis Nemes, the owner who developed the secret spice recipe more than 30 years ago, would say "the secret is in the sauce."

Bistro on Avenue owner Louis Nemes with a serving of his famous chicken wings. CONTRIBUTED

Stern agrees with him.

"We use 14 herbs and spices," she said. The raw chicken cutlets are then marinated in this concoction before being fully cooked in a deep fryer.

Once the chicken comes out of the deep fryer, she said, it is tumbled and coated in one of nine sauces. Customers can choose from mild, medium, hot, suicide, hotter than hell, honey garlic, hot and honey, barbecue, or Cajun dust.

The wings come with a specialty garlic-dill sauce, which Stern said customers frequently rave about.

Nemes describes the wings as meaty, crispy and intensely flavoured, and — if online forums are an accurate judge — it seems Toronto's foodie community agrees with him.

Vanier Cup. Two top teams will duke it out at the Rogers Centre

For many, it was the greatest Canadian college football game ever played. For Glen Constantin and his Laval Rouge et Or, it was inspirational fuel.

The 47th Vanier Cup in Vancouver, which was played a year ago Sunday, saw the McMaster Marauders defeat Laval 41-38 in double overtime.

The 48th edition goes Friday (7:30 p.m., TSN) at the Rogers Centre, with the undefeated and No. 1 Marauders facing No. 2 Laval. The crowd is expected to top the record of 32,847 at the 1989 Vanier Cup.

Both teams come in on top of their game. In the national semifinals last weekend, Rouge et Or clobbered No. 9 Acadia Axemen 42-7 in Quebec City, their CIS-record 58th straight victory at home. This is Laval's fourth appearance in the Vanier Cup in five years, having won in 2010 and 2008.

The Marauders routed the No. 3 Calgary Dinos 45-6, extending their winning streak to a CIS-record 21 straight games.

Their last loss was in Week 2 last season, a home-opening 48-21 thumping by the Western Ontario Mustangs.

NFL. Schwartz makes costly mistake by throwing a challenge, Texans take advantage with game-winning field goal in OT

Jim Schwartz threw a challenge flag when he didn't need to and the Houston Texans made him regret it.

Shayne Graham's 32-yard field goal with 2:21 left in overtime lifted Houston to a 34-31 win over the Detroit Lions on Thursday after their coach broke an NFL rule by attempting to challenge a scoring play.

"Obviously that's a big break in the game for us," Houston coach Gary Kubiak said. "But I think you make your breaks when you work your tail off."

Detroit kicker Jason Hanson had a chance to get Schwartz off the hook, but his 47-yard field-goal attempt on the fifth possession of the extra period hit the right upright. Lions defensive end Kyle Vanden Bosch did, too, on the previous possession when he couldn't intercept a pass Matt Schaub threw directly at him deep in Houston territory.

Detroit might've won in regulation if its coach hadn't made a costly mistake.

Schwartz threw a challenge flag when Houston's Justin Forsett scored on an 81-yard touchdown run in the third quarter after two Lions tackled him.

Horoscopes

♈ Aries
March 21 - April 20
Mars, your ruler, is at odds with Uranus, planet of surprises, so expect something surprising to happen. Whatever it may be, try not to overreact. You don't want to make a difficult situation even worse.

♉ Taurus
April 21 - May 21
Let everyone know what you can do today. Blow your own trumpet. The fact of the matter is there are few who can match you for energy or excellence. You have a right to be pleased with yourself.

♊ Gemini
May 22 - June 21
There is a danger today that you will act too quickly and make a silly mistake, which could set back your plans by weeks or even months. Check all facts and figures for yourself. Don't be too trusting.

♋ Cancer
June 22 - July 23
A partnership problem will only be resolved if you resolve to work for a solution that all sides find fair. It does not matter if you are right and they are wrong, it matters only that everyone is happy.

♌ Leo
July 24 - Aug. 23
Mars in the wellbeing area of your chart warns that you must know your limits. Don't push too hard or too fast today, or you may need to spend tomorrow and the weekend recovering from your exertions.

♍ Virgo
Aug. 24 - Sept. 23
At some point today, you will have to decide to push ahead with a project without the help of those you had previously counted on. But that's Ok. You don't need them. You're quite capable of getting it done yourself.

♎ Libra
Sept. 24 - Oct. 23
Disputes of one kind or another are likely today but that's fine. The air has to be cleared every once in a while and now is as good a time as any. As always, your sense of fair play will see you through.

♏ Scorpio
Oct. 24 - Nov. 22
Don't let anyone talk you out of what you are planning to do. They may say they are trying to save you from disaster but the truth is they don't want to see you succeed. It's called envy. Push on.

♐ Sagittarius
Nov. 23 - Dec. 21
There is no point in trying to convince a friend that your way of doing things is best, even though it clearly is, because they don't want to believe you. You will have to do it alone and you'll do better that way.

♑ Capricorn
Dec. 22 - Jan. 20
You need to sit down and draw up a list of priorities. If you don't, you will waste a great deal of time and energy on matters that are of no real importance. Your time is precious. Don't waste it.

♒ Aquarius
Jan. 21 - Feb. 19
Why are you convinced that others want to do you harm? Why do you think you have secret enemies? It's not true. It's just your mind playing tricks on you, so be positive and act as if everyone is your friend.

♓ Pisces
Feb. 20 - March 20
It's time to take action. For too long you have been sitting around planning what you are going to do some day. But that day may never come unless you get out and about and make things happen. Do it now. SALLY BROMPTON
